Attendance at Hearing On Uptown UR Divided

Western New York Girls Win, Pageant Tonight, Saturday

Miss Dunkirk-Fredonia, Marlene Lorraine Butcher, was declared a swimsuit winner in the preliminary competition of the Miss New York Pageant Thursday night in the auditorium of the Kingston High School.

Winning the talent award for her Puccini aria was Miss Southern Tier, Melissa Jane Lowry.

The seventh annual pageant opened with a near capacity audience. Pete Ferraro and his orchestra made their seventh consecutive appearance with the state beauty contest and Don MacIsaac was master of ceremonies.

The second stage of competition takes place tonight at 8:30 with the finals set for Saturday at 8 p. m., a half hour earlier because of the lengthy program.

Miss Dunkirk-Fredonia was a popular choice with the audience. She is the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Butcher of Hamburg, N. Y. A sophomore at State University, Fredonia, she stands 5 feet 3 inches, has honey brown hair and brown eyes. She also competed in the evening gown competition. On Friday, the young beauty will compete in the talent portion of the contest.

Miss Southern Tier is the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lowry of Ellicottville, N. Y. She wants to be an opera singer and her Puccini aria last night advanced her closer to her goal. Miss Southern Tier would like to attend Rosary Hill College and the Eastman School of Music.

The current Miss New York State, Julie Just, was on hand to entertain with several vocal selections. The talented out-going queen, who described her year's reign, will relinquish her crown to a new queen Saturday night.

Other entertaining highlights included the Miss New York Chorus under the direction of Earl Proper, director of choral music for the Onteora Central School.

Pageant Statistics

Of the 26 contestants, it is interesting to note that four of them have teachers for parents with the fields of law, real estate, insurance, industry and the U. S. Army also represented in the parental backgrounds. Twelve are attending college and nine are working for their degrees.

The teaching profession is represented among the contestants themselves with four of the girls now holding faculty jobs.

More than half of the girls are at least 5 feet, 6 inches tall.

Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but at least 16 of the contestants this year have brown hair and only five are blondes.

In the talent department, this year's Pageant features three opera singers, six dancers, an organist and an artist. In the past, monologues were in the minority but this year there are nine of them. At least six other contestants are listed as popular vocalists.

Pageant Sponsors

The 1965 Miss New York Pageant is sponsored locally by Pageant, Inc., a group of members representing the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber. John W. Lawson is president and Albert Kurdt is executive director.

Earl W. Jones is director-in-charge and Jack B. Burton is producer-director.

The format will be repeated tonight at 8:30 with contestants vying for top honors in the three categories: evening gown, swimsuit and talent. Two more winners will be named by the judges.

Various awards are won by the finalists with Miss New York receiving $1,000 scholarship from Pepsi-Cola. Other scholarships are: first runner-up, $400; second runner-up, $250; third runner-up, $200; fourth runner-up, $200; Most Talented Non-Finalist, $150; and Miss Congeniality, $150.

Car Registration System Changed For 1966 Plates

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The State Motor Vehicle Department's new staggered registration system has been put in line.

Numbers were plucked Thursday from a fishbowl to fix the registration periods for vehicle owners to obtain their 1966 plates.

The department announced last week that beginning next fall registrations would be spread out to prevent future renewal periods from occurring at the same time.

In November, the department will mail application forms to all automobile owners. The renewals will be valid from 10 months up to 15 months. After this initial, staggered registration period, each annual renewal will be for the customary 12 months.

The staggered periods were matched with the last numeral on each motorist's 1965 plate.

Thus, a Thursday's drawing, the numbers 0 through 9 were placed in the fishbowl and drawn by two women employes of the department. The drawing set these periods:

4 and 9 — valid for 10 months,

Fireworks Display Slated Saturday At Dietz Stadium

Another overflow attendance is expected for the ninth annual spectacular fireworks display and entertainment, which will be presented Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in Dietz Memorial Stadium by Local 461, Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighter's Association.

The fireworks will begin at dusk. A flag-raising ceremony will open the program when the fire fighter's association will present, as in previous years, a new American flag to the city. The flag will be accepted by Mayor John J. Schwenk, and presented by Floyd Finch, president of the association.

A message from Fire Chief James M. Brett will be delivered by Deputy Chief Glynn Southard.

The entertainment will include Pete Williams and the Ranchers, featured on WRGB-TV in Schenectady, and Bob Top and Lauren, a "skating in the sky" act. Top and his petite, red-haired partner combine in a display of daredeviltry on roller skates 60 feet in the air on a platform the size of a card table.

Tickets for the holiday entertainment are on sale at fire stations in the city and will be available at the Stadium box-office.

Planes Hit 40 Miles FromHanoi

Site of '54 French Defeat Is Pounded

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Air Force planes pounded the airfield and barracks in North Viet Nam's Dien Bien Phu today, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochina war.

Kill 120 Cong

South of the border, government troops killed 120 Viet Cong and captured eight others in three ground operations, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

Communists mortars hit two air strips with mortar fire during the night. U.S. spokesman said three helicopters were damaged at Cheo Reo, 220 miles northeast of Saigon, and another helicopter crashed due to mechanical failure after it took off during the attack on the Soc Trang strip, 100 miles southwest of Saigon.

No Enemy Sighed

U.S. spokesmen said a total of 30 planes pounded the targets at Dien Bien Phu, about 185 miles west northwest of Hanoi. They said no antiaircraft fire was encountered over the scene of the bitter 1954 fighting and no enemy planes were sighted.

All planes returned safely from the mission, almost on the Laotian border, they said.

The Viet Cong fired 20 to 25 mortar shells into the Soc Trang airfield, but U.S. helicopters there were hurriedly flown to another field. Damage was minor.

Another air strike today took 20 Navy Skyhawks and Crusaders 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, the closest yet to the North Vietnamese capital since air raids on the Communist North began Feb. 7, the spokesmen said. The raiders attacked the Nam Dinh oil storage tanks, described as one of the biggest petroleum tank areas in North Viet Nam.

Pilots reported flames from the storage tanks shot more than 200 feet into the air from all compounds and approximately eight large tanks were destroyed, the spokesmen said.

Heavy antiaircraft fire was encountered, pilots reported, but no enemy planes were sighted and all planes returned safely to the carrier Oriskany, the spokesmen said.

To Be Tougher For Errant Young Drivers Under 18

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —Teenagers who run afoul of New York's traffic laws will face double trouble under terms of a bill signed today by Gov. Rockefeller.

The measure provides that, whenever a driver under age 18 is convicted of a traffic offense, the clerk of the court must notify his parents or guardian by letter.

The new law, which goes into effect Oct. 1, applies to moving violations, such as speeding or reckless driving.

Rockefeller offered no comment in signing the measure, which was among a score he processed as he continued work on the 1,080 bills left on his desk by the 1965 Legislature.

In other actions:

— Rockefeller signed a bill authorizing Family Court judges to send negligent fathers to jail on a part-time basis—on weekends or for certain hours during the day. The idea is to mete out punishment and, at the same time, leave them free to work and support their families.

— He approved a bill creating the rank of major in the State Police.

— The governor vetoed, for

Schwenk Vetoes Traffic Ordinance for Two Areas

Mayor John J. Schwenk vetoed today a traffic ordinance passed at the June meeting of the Common Council, which would have reduced the speed limit on Mary's Avenue between Andrew and West Chester Streets to 15 miles an hour, and would have established a "stop on red" sign on Wall Street near Main.

In a letter to the Common Council, the mayor said:

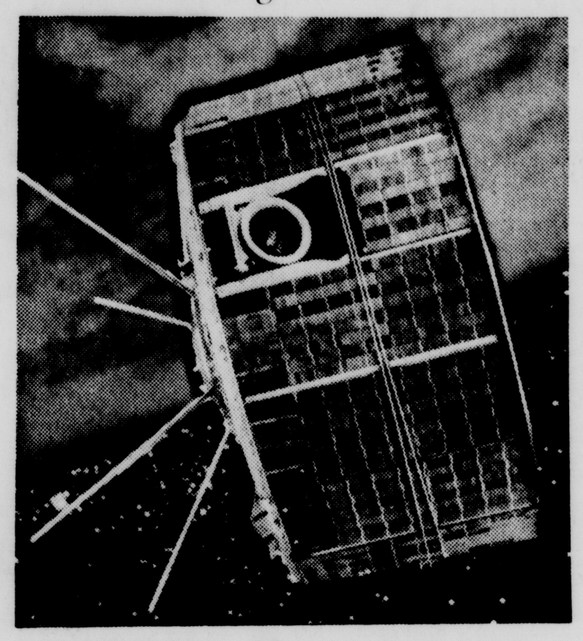

Gentlemen:

"Although the traffic ordinance adopted at your June 8th, 1965 session contains many worthwhile traffic regulations which, if presented separately would be considered and undoubtedly receive my approval, I must veto the ordinance because of Section 1, which would reduce the speed limit on Mary's Avenue between Andrew Street and West Chester Street to 15 miles per hour, and because of Section 7--"6", which desires to establish a "Stop On Red" sign on Wall Street at a point 260 feet from the northerly curbline of Main Street.

Let me first discuss Section 1, which deals with the 15 miles per hour speed zone on Mary's Avenue between Andrew Street and West Chester Street.

"(1) The New York State Vehicle and Traffic Law establishes a school speed zone of 15 m.p.h. 300' each side of a school, and such a speed zone now exists between O'Reilly Street and Andrew Street at the site of the Sophie Finn School. This present speed limit is only in effect "during the school noon hour, school recess, or while children are going to or leaving school during the opening or closing hours." If a 15 m.p.h. speed limit were established as requested, because of the standardization of speed limit signs, it would create confusion in the minds of drivers as to whether the signs meant a year round speed limit on the street of 15 m.p.h. or whether the signs were

Circling the Earth

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Tiros 10 weather satellite circled the globe today, its camera eyes ready to record the birth and movement of hurricanes, typhoons and other storms over a great area of the globe.

The mechanical meteorologist, launched late Thursday night, joined three other operating Tiros satellites — nos. 7, 8 and 9 — on space patrol. The quartet could provide the most comprehensive photographic coverage yet of a full season of tropical storms.

Tiros 10 is the first of the series paid for by the U.S. Weather Bureau and is the forerunner of an operational system the bureau plans to begin launching early in 1966.

The previous nine Tiros satellites, all successful, were financed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Although classed as research vehicles, many of the more than half a million pictures they have produced were used in operational weather channels around the world.

Road Mishap Kills 2 Near High Falls

Two persons were instantly killed and two others were seriously injured at 5:50 p. m. Thursday, when the 1964 car in which they were riding went out of control on Lucas Avenue Extension, south of Route 213, High Falls, and overturned several times before coming to a stop on its roof.

Killed were:

John W. Ellsworth, 34, of Accord, owner and operator of the car.

Caroline Brown, 21, of Kerhonkson, a passenger in the vehicle.

The victims are Ulster County's 21st and 22nd traffic fatalities of 1965.

Coroner William S. Keyser said Ellsworth and Miss Brown both died of decompressed fractures of the skull and lacerated brains.

Seriously inqured and admitted to Kingston Hospital were:

Miss Nancy Barringer, 18, of Kerhonkson, who suffered a fractured jaw, lacerations and head injuries.

Joanne Barringer, 14, sister of Nancy, also of Kerhonkson, who sustained a fractured right arm and leg and possible skull fracture.

Miss Brown and Nancy Barringer were taken to the hospital by Don's Ambulance Service of Rosendale. Joanne Barringer was rushed to the hos-

Rising Vote Indicates Half of 110 Opposed

Merchants See Future Advantages; Changes Asked, Council Votes 13th

Urban Renewal Director Eric Hemphill said today that he was confident that the Uptown UR Project would be approved by the Common Council, in spite of the fact that a protest petition containing more than 400 signatures was presented at a public hearing on the project Thursday night in the Common Council chambers.

Hemphill said, "I have confidence in the Uptown Plan as it is now prepared, and feel that the objectives of the program can be achieved by carrying it out. I am encouraged by the support that was shown by the various organizations who acted favorably on the plan, and by the many people who were present at the hearing to support its approval."

Expresses Confidence

He said, "I am confident that the Common Council in this community recognizes that something must be done to revitalize the Uptown section and that this is our opportunity to take action before it is too late. Of course, the final decision rests with the Common Council, but again, my feeling is that the Common Council will recognize the need for this program and the good for the entire community which can come of it, and will vote its approval. For these reasons I am confident that the plan will be approved."

Observers estimated that more than half of the some 110 persons attending the hearing were opposed to the project in its present form.

Many concluded that the consensus of those who took the floor to speak in protest was, "I'm not against Urban Renewal, but—."

Alderman John Naccarato (R-Third Ward) chairman of the Common Council's Urban Renewal Committee and chairman of the meeting, told The Freeman that he would have no comment on the meeting pending a meeting of his committee.

Over Half Opposed

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., said that it was his opinion that more than half of those present were opposed to the Uptown Plan in its present stage, and that it appeared that they preferred a delay in the plan.

The protest petition—containing 436 signatures—was presented to the Council by W. Henry Haltermann, general manager of the Gulf Oil Corp., who asked for those opposing the Uptown Plan to stand. About half of those in the Council Chambers stood.

The petition asked that the proposed plan be postponed by the Council because of "inequities in the overall plan." The petitioners called on the Council to postpone the plan until the Downtown Urban Renewal Plan (Broadway East) is completed and "until the people affected by the uptown Urban Renewal know what they will receive in compensation for the changes affecting them."

Could Kill Program

Hemphill told The Freeman today that failure to approve the Uptown UR Plan would "kill it completely." He said that the Broadway East Project was a approved subsequent to a public hearing and that in order to function properly the Uptown Project should be processed simultaneously.

A number of Uptown merchants, businessmen and association representatives spoke in support of the propc d plan. However, others challenged the plan on every basis from architectural design to capital tax structures.

The Rev. John Gilmore of Riverview Baptist Church asked about the relocation of 129 families Uptown and the relocation of people in the Broadway East Project. He was told that relocation was available in the 135 new units in BE, Colonial Gardens, the new Wiltwyck Apartments, and in the turnover normal housing. In any case, he was told, "no one will have to move until we have the housing and then the owners will have 60 days to move."

Objects to Parts

John Heitzman, former city alderman and avowed Democrat candidate for mayor, said that, "Because of declining business uptown, we cannot lose the Uptown Project." However, he said there were elements of the plan to which he objected, such as renovation of "blighted buildings." He said he could see no reason for moving buildings which are presently acceptable.

Haltermann questioned as to why the proposed mall in the Uptown plan did not come down to the Gulf station on North Front Street. He said that the station pays more taxes than the factory next to the Senate House.

Charles Eggers of Red Hook, who said he appeared for the "Friends of the Senate House," now known as the "Society for Preservation of Historic Kingston," said that he felt that the city had the potential of becoming a "northern Willimsburg" which would attract tourists from all over. He urged that the UR Agency consider the restoration of historic buildings.

Nat Parish of Raymond & May Associates, city planning consultants, said that restoration was up to individual owners with certain financial aid at more favorable rates. He said that there was some legislation toward such assistance, but many structures must be brought into compliance.

Louis Kaye, who said he had operated his business Uptown for

More Influenza Predicted for Coming Winter

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Public Health Service advisory committee predicted today there probably will be an increased number of influenza cases in the coming winter season.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry announced the committee's recommendation for vaccination of persons in groups which experience high mortality from epidemic influenza.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices noted that influenza incidence in the United States during 1964-65 was relatively limited. The last major epidemic of Type A influenza occurred in 1962-63 in most of the country and in 1963-64 on the West Coast.

Since the outbreaks come in two to three year cycles, "the committee anticipates that somewhat increased amounts of influenza may be expeced in the coming season," the health service said.

The committee urged that persons in the following groups be vaccinated against influenza: Those suffering from chronic debilitating diseases, older persons, pregnant women and patients in nursing homes and other environments in which crowded living arrangements may lead to a more rapid spread of the disease.

Hit by Truck

Solon Is Killed While Talking With Patrolman

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Rep. T. Ashton Thompson, D-La. was struck and killed by a truck Thursday as he stood talking with a highway patrolman who had stopped him for allegedly speeding.

Thompson, 49, was taking his family home from Washington for the July 4th weekend. His wife and two children, the family maid and the patrolman escaped serious injury. The truck driver was hospitalized for possible back injuries.

Police said the congressman and Patrolman J.C. Goodwin were standing between their cars when the truck, driven by Norman Turner, 53, of Westville, N.J., apparently sideswiped the patrol car and slammed into the left rear of Thomson's 1965 Cadillac.

Thompson was thrown 18 feet and killed instantly. The truck continued for 264 feet down Interstate 85 before overturning. It was carrying egg crates and barrels of liquid soap.

Mrs. Thompson, 36, Christine Lea Thompson, 10, Ted Arthur Thompson, 7, and the maid, Evelina Poullard, 52, had remained in the car. They were flown to their Ville Platte, La., home today in the plane of Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen.

Pa. Solons Vacation

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania lawmakers headed for home today and a two-week vacation after voting themselves increased salaries, pensions and expenses that would put them among the highest paid state legislators in the country.

Meeting in a post - midnight session, the House and Senate also sent to Gov. Scranton a proposed $2.5 million emergency appropriation for the financially distressed University of Pittsburgh.

Action on the legislative emoluments came Thursday, climaxing the busiest legislative week of the year.

Plan to Stretch Water

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware are considering an emergency plan to stretch the dwindling water supplies of the Delaware River which serve an area with 20 million people.

The plan was proposed Thursday at a closed, informal meeting of the Delaware River Basin Commission in Gov. Richard J. Hughes' office.

The decision on the fate of the plan will come July 7, when the commission meets again in Philadelphia. Hughes, chairman of the commission, said New York officials bear the major part of the decision.

Capitol News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)— House Republican Leader Gerald Ford says his party "will be guided by the national interest" in its stand on Viet Nam.

"Republicans will continue to disregard partisan considerations in foreign policy," he said, contending that "some Democrats would abandon the free people of Viet Nam.

"The President must not yield to them," Ford said at a news conference.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unemployment rate increased to 4.7 per cent in June after hitting an eight-year low of 4.6 per cent in May. But non-farm employment reached a record level of 67,459,000.

Reporting these figures Thursday, the Labor Department said they were based on the first 12 days of the month and therefore did not reflect the full impact of the entry into the job market of college and high school students.

Total employment for the month reached 72.6 million, up from 72.4 million in May.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and State Department have declined to comment on a five-month-old report to President Johnson on the need for an agreement to prevent spread of nuclear weapons.

The New York Times said Thursday that the report recommended priority for such an agreement over the pending proposal to create a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Alliance. The United States and West Germany are the chief backers of such a plan.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders in Congress say here are "danger signals" in the nation's economy and accuse the Johnson administration of "giving glib and pat answers to serious and involved questions."

At a joint news conference Leader Gerald R. Ford said Thursday, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said price and wage increases in spite of continued substantial unemployment are creating "distinct inflationary pressures."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said the administration seems to be suggesting that anything wrong in the economy stems from a speech by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Martin said there were some similarities between the present economy and that which preceded the 1929 crash. Martin also said there were differences.

Kingston Rabbi Is Elected to Alliance Post

At its annual convention in Long Beach the Rabbinic Alliance elected Rabbi M. Bleich of Poughkeepsie, recording secretary, Rabbi Nathan Goodman of Monticello, member of the executive board, and Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Kingston, second vice president.

The convention called upon all rabbis to strengthen religious education in America and throughout the world. It also called upon all Jews to return to a closer observance of the principle which has "sustained us through 4,000 years of Torah."

Addressing the convention were Rabbi R. Hershberg, chief rabbi of Mexico; Rabbi Lincberg of France; Rabbi Solomon Lorenz, member of the Israel Knesset (parliament); Israel Adelman mayor of Petach Tikva, Israel, and Judah Gur, director of Rabbinic Services of the Israel Ministry of Religions. Judah Gur reported on the encouragement and subsidy given to all religions in Israel.

Rabbi Rappaport of Kingston, was chairman of the third session held Wednesday, June 30. This session concerned itself with the problems of how to best strengthen religious observance.

The Rabbinical Alliance is an organization of Orthodox Rabbis throughout the world, with members in the United States, European countries, Latin America and Israel.

2 Protest N.Y. Tapping Hudson

Two Hudson river communities have protested to the State Water Resources Commission a proposal that the City of New York be permitted to draw water from the Hudson at Chelsea to augment its dwindling supply.

A spokesman for the Commission said Thursday that complaints had been received from both Poughkeepsie and Rhinebeck officials, protesting the taking of water from the river by New York City on the grounds such action would lower the level of the river and cause salt pollution to creep up the river.

Objections have been filed by Mayor Christopher Atkinson of Poughkeepsie and Mayor Robert Shackelton of Rhinebeck and also the Dutchess County Water Agency.

Poughkeepsie now draws water from the Hudson and the village of Rhinebeck has launched a program to tap the Hudson.

The Commission spokesman said the state agency would have no comment on the matter until it had received a request from the City of New York to draw water from the river for drinking purposes. No such request has as yet been received.

During a prior drought New York City made plans to use river water by injecting it into the Catskill aqueduct at Chelsea. However, relief came and the plan was never put into effect. Later the installation was dismantled.

Cape Town Has No Trouble in Defining 'Beats'

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—There may not be a legal definition of a beatnik, but residents of this resort town on the tip of Cape Cod have no trouble finding words to describe the type.

The problem of a legal definition arose after residents submitted a "ban the beatniks" petition to town officials.

"Everyone knows you can't ban beatniks," said Town Clerk William McCaffrey, "unless they break the law. Besides, what is a beatnik?"

Town selectmen tabled the petition on the ground that there is no legal definition of beatnik.

The petition was the townspeople's response to a growing influx each summer of persons they label "beat."

Evelyn Bent of the weekly Provincetown Advocate says the beatnik migration increases in size each summer.

"This crowd," she says, "comes down with practically nothing and manages to survive without working or bathing."

Provincetown has become the "summer village," she says, for many inhabitants of New York's Greenwich Village. Others say the beatniks come from Boston.

McCaffrey says there aren't many beatniks compared to the thousands of paying tourists who swell the summer population, "but in a little town like this, when it gets congested, and with the narrow streets, if you see the same goon 15 times in one day, you go away with the impression the town is full of them."

Water Level of Lake Ontario Not Steady

The report said Lake Erie's water level fell one inch last month and is expected to drop from one to three inches next month.

Two Flee Auto, Later Struck by Dutchess Train

Two Poughkeepsie residents escaped injury at 3:10 a. m. today when they leaped from a car as a freight train was approaching after the vehicle became stuck on the tracks of a New Haven Railroad crossing about five miles west of Highland.

State Police said Roland Pectal, 33, of 8 McKinley Lane, accompanied by Gladys Manks, 19, of 134 Pine Street, was driving his car on a Town of Lloyd road when the right front tire lodged in a hollow space beteween the rails and planks of the railroad crossing.

The vehicle sunk several inches in loose gravel as Pectal tried to move it off the crossing as a freight train appeared. The driver and his passenger leaped from the vehicle and Pectal ran up the tracks in an attempt to signal the engineer to stop.

Trooper R. C. Anderson, who investigated with Trooper B. S. O'Connor said John Collins, 69-year-old engineer, of Elwood, Conn., applied the emergency brakes but the 28-car freight train continued on and smashed into the stalled car, pushing it about 33 feet before the vehicle landed on its roof.

Trooper Anderson said the freight train enroute from New Haven to Maybrook was traveling about 40 miles an hour at the time it crashed into the automobile.

Editor, The Freeman:

The glorious Fourth celebration is now upon us with the anticipated delightful parade coming. It gladdens the heart and makes the feet stir to the pace of the bands. Yet, unfortunately, it saddens the color guards and actually makes them infuriated to see the constant apathy and down right disrespect shown to the flag as it passes in review.

Twice now this year in our parades in Saugerties, bystanders ignore the flag, and in some cases the youngsters, actually cat-call after the marchers! Bicycle riders zig-zag through the line of march as hazardous and annoying.

Adults don't care; teen-agers are "embarrassed"; and children, either through ignorance or trying to show off, do not salute the flag or even acknowledge its being.

Patriotism is not a thing to be ashamed of. Wake up! Prove of complacency. Wake up! Prove your spirited selves, Saugertisians! Set the example for all to see! All you need is a few to stand at attention, saluting, for it to "catch on." Be proud of those colors. Think of the rows of crosses line after line of those who DID care enough to give their all.

Salute that flag . . . respect it. . . . it is protecting YOU!

The governor also made "recess" appointments, subject to confirmation of the Senate.

He named Assemblyman Orin S. Wilcox, R-Jefferson, to the State Civil Service Commission for a term ending Feb. 1, 1971.

As a commissioner of the three-member agency, Wilcox will be paid $22,075 annually.

Reynold's re-appointment is for a term to May 4, 1971. The post pays an annual salary of $22,075.

Door Now Appears Open to Settle Santo Stalemate

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — New statements by two leaders of the Dominican junta appeared today to open the door to a settlement of the stalemate in the Caribbean trouble spot.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras, junta president, said Thursday night that the most difficult part of his task was completed and he would step down when the Dominican people were assured of safety from communism, anarchy and despotism.

Communism, Imbert said in a televised speech, had been confined to just one sector of Santo Domingo. He meant the rebel sector.

The remaining task, he said, could be done by any "well intentioned Dominican." He added that the armed forces and the political parties should share in the responsibility for safe guarding the country.

Imbert said any attempt by the Organization of American States to impose a provisional government would be a "gross act of intervention."

But he said he would not be an obstacle to a peaceful solution of the crisis touched off by the rebellion April 24. Previously Imbert had said he would step down only after an elected government took office.

Peace prospects got a further boost Thursday night when the armed forces secretary, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, told a newsman the armed forces would support any democratic solution put forward by the OAS. He added that the junta, which he said the army considered a "democratic government," also would back the OAS.

The OAS proposed a settlement June 18 calling for creation of a provisional government followed by general elections in six to nine months.

The junta's first reply amounted to a virtual rejection of the plan. The junta proposed itself as the basis for a provisional government — a suggestion completely unacceptable to the rebels. The rebels had agreed to the OAS plan with minor reservations.

Teeners Face Quiz

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP)—Three teen-agers were being held for questioning today, one of them in Auburn Memorial Hospital with a gunshot wound, after police spotted the trio in an automobile that was reported stolen.

The youth was shot Thursday night as he and the other two jumped from the moving car. He was unidentified pending a determination of his age, but is reported in fair condition with a wound in his right shoulder.

Police said the other two boys both were under 16.

Police Chief John T. Costello said that the car was reported stolen Thursday from the parking lot of Memorial Hospital.

Girl, 9, Killed

REDFIELD, N. Y. (AP) —A 9-year-old girl was killed and five other persons injured Thursday night in the collision of two automobiles on County Route 17 near here.

The dead girl is Gay Giddings, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Giddings of this Oswego County hamlet.

Boy Remains Critical

Rynhold Tiedtke, 11, of Route 1, Box 397, Saugerties, was reported still in critical conditio at Kingston Hospital today. He received severe head and leg injuries Wednesday afternoon when a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Tiedtke, was in collision with a telephone truck operated by Orville Klomps near the intersection of Route 9W and Leggs Mills road. Mrs. Tiedtke and her 7-year-old son, Robert, who were also injured, were reported in satisfactory condition. Mrs. Tiedtke suffered chest and back injuries and Robert sustained head injuries.

Delay Dutchess Hearing 2 Weeks On Parks Bill

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today announced that hearings by the House of Representatives Committee on National Parks and Recreation on the "Ottinger Scenic Hudson Bill" scheduled to be held in Poughkeepsie July 12 have been postponed for approximately two weeks. The postponement was caused by a conflict with other important Congressional activity on that day.

Rep. Resnick said that the postponement of the hearings on the Hudson Highlands National Scenic Riverway Bill meant that when the hearings are rescheduled there would be a full day of taking testimony instead of the half-day originally scheduled.

The reason for the postponement is that Monday, July 12, has been selected as a "Suspension Monday" by the House leadership and all members of Congress want to be present in the House on that day. A "Suspension Monday" is a day on which the normal rules of the House of Representatives are suspended in order to expedite the disposition of large amounts of minor legislation.

Hearings will be held on July 9 and 10 in other Hudson Valley communities as previously planned by the committee.

Awaits Hearing

Marvin E. DePuy, 16, Ulster Heights, is in the county jail awaiting a hearing on July 3 on a charge of entering the premises of Robert Sears at Ulster Heights and also taking a 1954 car. He drove the car to Ellenville where police discovered it had no registration plates. He was promptly arrested by Ellenville police and state police. It is alleged he entered the Sears home in order to get a battery to start the car.

SALUTE TO AVERAGE MAN

The Fourth of July is observed to celebrate American independence.

Then surely we aren't going to let it pass without a special salute to the most independent American of them all—Joe Doakes, the average man.

Nobody has freedom like this guy. And nobody enjoys or uses it more.

Special people — presidents, governors, mayors, business tycoons—are restrained by their very eminence and responsibilities from making instantaneous, off-the-cuff statements on issues and problems of the day.

But not Joe Doakes, Mr. Average. Uncluttered by all the facts, unfettered by public responsibility, he is able, free and willing to suggest a solution to anything and everything.

Viet Nam? The Dominican Republic? Civil rights? The pennant race? Joe's got the answer. And if he guesses wrong, who's hurt?

Does this mean that Joe is just a loudmouth with no talent? Not on your life.

Actually, he's a vital cog in our social and political machinery. He can vote and he can scream. He can spread his views and write letters to the editor. He is a powerful brake on public or private misbehavior.

Furthermore, Joe Doakes is in general blessed with common sense and a basic regard for decency and fair play. And he can spot something fishy with amazing speed.

The country needs him and is lucky to have him.

So happy Independence Day, Joe Doakes. And if you happen to come up with a hot hunch on how to get out of any of these jams we're in don't speak—SCREAM!

SCIENTISTS TO THE MOON

There can be no quarrel with the choice of six young scientists for training to take part in missions to the moon. For at least two excellent reasons, the Manned Spacecraft is to be recommended for its decision to include such men in the Appolo moon program.

The principal reason is that, although sending a man to the moon is a great adventure, it is essentially a scientific undertaking. It is at heart a part of man's quest for knowledge about the universe. The right questions must asked, and scientists are best equipped to do that.

The second reason for being pleased at the inclusion of scientists is that this helps to place the emphasis where it belongs—on the effort to expand human understanding rather than on miiltary aspects of space flight. This nourishes the hope that, despite man's worse nature, it may yet be possible to keep the venture into space from becoming an extension of earthly conflicts.

Apparently the plan is to man the first moon expedition, four or five years hence, with non-scientist astronauts intensively trained in the techniques of space flight. That would be wise; the overriding consideration, that first time, will be to get there and back.

But it is good to know that on succeeding flights a scientist will be in the spacecraft. Only such a man, trained in geology or physics or some other pertinent field, will be able to get the most out of a scientific mission.

WE'RE ALMOST HALFWAY

The town of Weeping Water, Neb., is not customarily the dateline for news about government programs. Yet there it was, an Associated Press item from Weeping Water that began this way: "Forty-seven per cent of the 41,000-mile network of expressways in the new interstate highway system is open to traffic."

There is no reason to doubt the authenticity of the announcement, though the familiar Washington dateline was missing. Somehow, the word trickled out through Weeping Water, and that's that.

The word itself is interesting. If grade school arithmetic serves, 47 per cent of 41,000 miles is a bit more than 19,000 miles. That is a lot of highway.

Still, there ought to be a lot of new highway by now; the program has been going on for what seems like forever and certainly is many years. And every mile is needed to handle the unending flood of new cars on the road. It is good to know, thanks to the tidings from Weeping Water, that we are almost at the halfway point.

People who complained about a long winter this year please note: The port at Thule air base in Greenland has just been opened after being iced in since September.

Business leaders expect a continued boom—and also higher consumer prices. We knew there was a catch to it.

WHERE LABOR BEHAVES MAGNIFICENTLY

I've been knocking the unions for their attempt to repeal Section 14 (B) of the Taft-Hartley Act, the clause that permits individual states to pass "right-to-work" laws, and before I am through with the subject I may do so again. But between attempts to defeat the unions on a demand which they should never have made, let me pause to say that organized labor, in the present Vietnamese and Dominican Republic crises, is behaving magnificently.

Back in May the AFL-CIO Executive Council issued a stirring appeal in support of President Johnson's efforts to defeat the Communists in Southeast Asia and in the Caribbean. George Meany, the president of the AFL-CIO, added his eloquent statement that "organized labor in our country has steadfastly opposed appeasement of all aggressors—Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin, Mao Tse-tung, and Khrushchev alike." "In continuation of this policy," said Mr. Meany, "we have time and again supported President Johnson's firm rejection of all proposals to appease the aggressors against the people of South Vietnam." David Dubinsky, the head of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, chimed in with Meany by urging his own union members "to rally to the support of the President in his prompt, effective action to halt the enemies of freedom in Vietnam and Santo Domingo."

Thus the clear voice of American labor, which knows that in a totalitarian world there would be no more freedom to bargain collectively for any benefits whatsoever. But, while the American labor movement has been busy upholding President Johnson's hand in the attempt to halt the latest march of the Communist Goliath, what have large numbers of our artists and writers and professors been doing? They have been busy signing appeasing statements which, for sheer indulgence in "double think," outdo anything in George Orwell's satiric novel about Big Brother's forthcoming domination of the world, "Nineteen Eighty-Four." And many of our businessmen have been trying to drum up sentiment for entering into commercial deals with Red China and with Soviet Russia, an effort which Mr. Dubinsky has castigated as "just as senseless and dangerous as was doing 'business as usual' with Hitler, Mussolini and the Japanese military dictators yesterday."

The latest "peace" advertisement put out by a so-called "Artists Protest Committee" is signed by scores of painters, sculptors, writers, editors, musicians, and theatre artists. But it is noteworthy that the list is well salted with the names of the same old hacks who were signing pro-Communist manifestos back in the Nineteen Thirties. The "Hollywood Ten," or at least a fractional part of it, is riding again. So is the League for Peace and Democracy, which was only for peace when it helped the Soviet Union.

One could respect the integrity of the signers if they would also denounce the burning of U.S. overseas libraries and the bombing of embassies. One could respect them if they had shown an equal amount of zeal in opposing Mao Tse-tung's attempt to liquidate the Tibetans, or if they had taken due note of Khrushchev's policy of "genocide by diffusion" when the Soviets deliberately sent the Baltic state populations to the oblivion of Asiatic work camps. One could respect them if they had denounced Castro for reviving child labor when he grabbed the Cuban school kids and sent them out to cut sugar cane.

Compared to the record of a ponderable segment of our artists, professors and even businessmen, American labor's record in opposing appeasement of dictators is as pure as a well-known soap. At this very moment Mr. Meany, Jay Lovestone, and other union officials are en route to Brussels for a meeting of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions. They will try to put the ICFTU firmly on President Lyndon Johnson's side in standing up to the Communists in Vitenam and the Dominican Republic.

I can't help feeling proud of George Meany, even though I must continue to oppose the AFCIO on the issue of the repeal of 14(B). But I can't say I'm proud of a lot of my fellow intellectuals. They don't know from nothing.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Blood Antibodies Cause Autoimmune Diseases

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It is sometimes said of a man that he is his own worst enemy. This is never more true than when he has one of the so-called autoimmune diseases.

When antibodies were first discovered they were defined as protective substances produced in the blood to combat a foreign substance which might be a germ (infection) or a protein (allergy). These antibodies were powerful weapons in the development of immunity and no one thought for a moment that any kind of antibody could harm the person in whom it was produced.

It now appears that many diseases are the result of antibodies built up against our own tissues. These are called autoimmune diseases and we still don't know very much about how most of them develop. To further confuse the issue, it has been shown that a person may have auto-antibodies in his blood and still not have any tissue damage as a result.

This makes it hard to give a precise definition of auto-immune diseases but they have been found to be characterized by an increase in the gamma globulin (itself an immunizing substance) in the blood; improvement when the cortisone group of drugs is given; and, in many persons, the occurrence of more than one of these diseases.

Although authorities are not in perfect agreement, the following diseases are generally believed to belong in this class: thyroiditis (Hashimoto's disease), pernicious anemia, hemolytic (blood-destroying) anemia especially when caused by certain drugs, ulcerative colitis, myasthenia gravis, certain forms of purpura, lupus erythematosus especially when caused by certain drugs, rheumatoid arthritis, cirrhosis of the liver, the Bright's disease (nephritis) that follows a streptococcal infection, and possibly infectious mononucleosis. We do not know whether the circulating autoantibodies are the cause or the result of these diseases but we do know that these antibodies are harmful.

The discoveries being made about these diseases are changing many older ideas and further study is bound to result in a better understanding not only of their cause but also of the best means of controlling them.

Q—I am a housewife, 67. My doctor is giving me Celestone. What is it for? Is it habit-forming?

A—Betamethasone (Celestone) is one of the cortisone-like drugs. It is recommended especially for allergies and inflammatory diseases of the eyes, digestive tract and joints. Although it is not habit-forming, prolonged use of the drugs of this class may result in softening of the bones, peptic ulcer or depression of adrenal function.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) Halfway in its course, the year 1965 already has provided striking new evidence of diminished respect in this country for the traditional processes of compromise and accommodation.

Not just militancy but outright belligerence is the mood of all too many who meet on the contending ground where the large and small issues of the day are being decided.

The mail a columnist receives on a wide range of topics is heavily laden with hatred for other Americans.

It hardly seems enough any more to lean upon the old crutch that these belligerents represent "only a small minority" in U. S. society. There are signs that their intolerant spirit can, at times, spread like a contagion.

In 1964, the conservatives who seized the Republican party were stiffened by cadres of militant folk whose watchword is "no compromise." Thrust downward by Barry Goldwater's defeat, they are rising for another try. Calls for unity among diverse party elements are rejected by them as the tactics of the enemy.

A good many intellectual liberals who assail President Johnson's Viet Nam policies exhibit the same spirit. An audio-montage drawing together many of their public utterances at "teach-ins" and similar affairs would constitute an emotional barrage brooking no opposition.

The outbursts of furv at Harvard, Cornell and the University of Calfornia at Berkeley stand out particularly. The critics' thirst was not for explanation nor for an accommodating solution, but for revenge against their adversaries in the White House.

The "no compromise" mood of many white southerners entangled in the Negro revolution is an old story. But 1965 is the year the president himself took note of how deeply alienated millions of Negroes are from "the other side."

This feeling of apartness goes to the point where Negroes sometimes reject wholly dedicated Negroes who, in one way or another, deal with the "white Establishment."

A recent survey made for police officials and the U. S. Conference of Mayors disclosed that now and then Negro police officers are scorned by people of their own race as "Uncle Toms" or "handkerchiefheads."

THIS COUNTRY, OF COURSE, has always had its share of people who hold rigidly to themselves and their own viewpoints. What concerns some officials here are these things:

The great and continuing growth—in sheer numbers — of the "no compromisers."

The rising vehemence with which they press their warlike attitudes.

The greater means (including better communications and ingenious devices of obstruction) by which they can urge their unyielding cause.

TO THE LEADERS OF UNYIELDING CAUSES, these conditions are all to the good. They urge further that the new belligerency is a necessary response to the chronic stubbornness of an Establishment bent on resisting revolutionary change.

Uncompromising assault, they contend, is the only real way to make over a political party, alter an entrenched foreign policy in Viet Nam or elsewhere, hold onto an embattled way of life (as in the South), lift up the poverty-stricken, fulfill the rights and opportunities of a large, disadvantaged minority like the Negroes.

Yet, in the harsh state of warfare they prefer, the belligerents leave gravely ambiguous such vital matters as when, if ever, the established authorities and their processes of government are to be respected in a "time of revolution"—and how the established and the embittered unestablished are to coexist when the warring is done.

Today in National Affairs

The Splinter Groups And a GOP Program

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye in the wistful complaint by Ray Bliss, Republican national chairman, that fun-raising by "splinter" groups could make it harder for the Republican National Committee to raise money.

Actually, Mr. Bliss may have the cart before the horse. There's usually no difficulty in raising money for political campaigns when the people feel that their grievances are going to be dealt with by the party seeking their support. The problem the Republican managers face today is that the party leaders or spokesmen have not convinced the country that, if the Republican party did come into majority power, it would heed the voices of discontent.

There is, moreover, at present a noticeable absence of organized expression by the Republican party on the main issues of the day. Those who deserted the party in the 1964 election campaign show no signs of remorse. Despite all the political debate since last November, the average citizen doesn't know yet what the Republican party as a whole stands for and what it seeks to do.

Today some of the biggest problems before the nation are being neglected by both parties. The largest single issue in America is the war on crime. People in the big cities find it dangerous to go out of doors at night. Even apartment houses, with lots of tenants, have been the scene of robberies as well as rapes. The story is the same in all big cities.

The chief trouble is that there are not enough policemen in most of the communities to give the people adequate protection. The Federal government has neglected to do anything about the problem except to urge that special studies be made. Meanwhile, the situation goes from bad to worse. Crime rates are at a record high.

There are other issues which neither political party is tackling, One is the misuse of public funds. There are, for instance, scandals in certain phases of the anti-poverty program. Congress itself has permitted all sorts of "conflicts of interest" to be tolerated, as is revealed by the findings in the Bobby Baker case.

Throughout the United States there are many inequities felt by the citizen, particularly in the field of employment. Persons who are qualified and willing to work are discriminated against, not because they haven't joined or don't wish to join a union. Also, many individuals are victims of the violence which frequently envelops strikes.

An opportunity presents itself, too, for the Republicans to call for a removal of the barriers to free enterprise in America and for the maintenance of a sound fiscal position by the government. The spending policies of the last few years have put the Federal budget continuously out of balance, and indications are that an inflationary era is in prospect unless extravagant spending by government can be checked.

The cost of living is rising, and the purchasing power of the dollar is declining. The economic situation is often described as "booming," but there are obviously many weaknesses in the employment picture throughout the country.

All these matters are contributing to a widespread unrest. An opposition party has the responsibility and the obligation to expose blunders in government and to publicize the grievances of the people. Once this is done, there will be little trouble about raising money for political campaigns.

Citizen groups with particular causes to advocate are not to be frowned upon. They perform a useful service in stirring up interest in public affairs on concrete issues. Recent criticism of such organizations is somewhat puzzling. It seems to depend on what kind of association happens to emerge. Thus, when the "Republicans for Progress" was established to advocate the "liberal" side of Republicanism, no protests were heard. Yet, when the "Free Society Association," started by Goldwater supporters, was announced, it was immeadiately subjected to severe criticism as being a barrier to the raising of money by the Republican National Committee.

What the Republican party needs to do more than anything else is to expose fully what's happening in government today, particularly in Congress, which is ruled by a rubber-stamp majority. In the Congressional elections next year, the people will have a chance to express themselves against much of the loosely worded and inequitable legislation that will have been pressured through Congress by the big Democratic majority.

There is plenty for an opposition party to talk about, and there will be ample opportunity for it to raise funds from the protesting citizens once there is a consensus among the voters that the party out of power might really do a better job than the party now in office.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

This is going to be a rip-roaring old-fashioned Fourth of July. I'm traveling from Florida to Milwaukee to find it. At one time, the celebration of Independence Day was a mixture of patriotism, fireworks, and picnics with cold beer and ants on the tablecloth. Recently, the Fourth of July has been transmuted into the inalienable right to get out on the highway and kill each other.

I have an allergy to being slaughtered, even on a holiday. It smarts. Instead of the highways, we will try the skyways where the traffic—I hope—is one way. Harvey Schwander of the Milwaukee Sentinal tells me that the pageant is truly old-fashioned, and that Schlitz Brewing Co. picks up the tab for the fireworks, the parade, and the foaming beers.

In that case, the Bishops should be entitled to go on the cuff. My wife is the world's most enthusiastic consumer of beer. She drinks it as others partake of water. She rips the tops from the cans with her hands, and drinks it from the container. With the beer, she enjoys a family-sized bag of potato chips. Sometimes, in the dark, she sounds like a million termites gone mad.

Still, she never gains an ounce. Five feet seven, 130 pounds. There is something about her metabolism that makes me fat. I glance at the beer she drinks and pick up two pounds. The smart matrons, I understand, enjoy a martini or three before dinner. And after. My wife rips the tops off brews at an hour when other ladies are serving high tea.

My brother John is a fair beer drinker. Especially when there is no booze around. My father used to enjoy a straight rye for viewing the world with equanimity, and a beer for staving off thirst. He once knew a place called O'Donnell's, where they served 17-ounce glasses of beer. It was called the Goldfish Bowl, and Dad could belt four or five of those before looking up to bid the bartender the time of day.

Sometimes, when he got home, my mother had to burp him. An uncle of mine felt haughtily that beer was intended solely for washing the feet of peasants. He drank gin, and made his own. My grandpa Tier made his own beer in an era called Prohibition and grandma became so nervous listening to the explosion of the bottles in the cellar that she tried to hop into the sink with the dishes.

Once, years ago, I mistook a half dozen bottles of India ale for beer on a hot night and, in the morning, the family had to sweep me out of the breakfast nook. At another time, I attended a weeding in Boston and the guests wanted Haffenreffer's beer but they were so loaded that nobody could say it.

In Heidelberg and Berlin, the Bishops tried all the local beers and left convinced that the big breweries of America can match any brew in Europe. The fact that a brew is imported doesn't make it better; just most expensive.

So Kelly and I go to Milwaukee feeling that we belong. On Sunday, there will be a special performance of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus in the afternoon and, if we can get tickets, we will go because I haven't seen one since my father was a cop and sneaked me under the tent in the old North Street Grounds.

At 10 p. m. the fireworks will begin from a car ferry anchored in the bay and Ben Barkin says they are going to be the most elaborate since grandpa staggered home with lipstick on his kisser. On Monday there will be a picnic and, in the afternoon, a parade replete with old-fashioned floats, big brewery horses, and old-time costumes.

Other cities should try the Milwaukee method. Independence Day is a good time to run the flag up and expose a few of the old-time virtues. It must be fun for the men to don mutton-chop whiskers and double-breasted vests and spats. The ladies are still attractive in huge hats, leg-of-mutton sleeves and high button shoes.

Anything, to my way of thinking, is preferable to getting on the road and fighting the maniacs and the fumes in a race to the death. The mayors and town councils can make the Fourth of July a good time to remain in town. Our forefathers intended Independence Day to be a time of joy in commemoration of those who wanted liberty so badly that they were willing to fight and die for it.

No Future, Past Full of Horrors

A Look at Victims of War Being Fought in Viet Nam

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Covered with massive, red napalm burns, the boy whimpered in pain as the nurse removed the bandages from his skinny, scorched body. He would die.

A pretty girl dozed in a twilight state of semiconsciousness with a bullet wound in her chest. She had also been shot in the thigh eight months earlier.

Another boy, suffering deep shock, looked into space with an expressionless stare. He had seen his mother, father and two sisters killed in their peasant village.

These are victims of the Vietnamese war. They are Vietnamese children with no future and a past filled with horror. They were brought to Da Nang's only civilian hospital where a skilled team of American doctors and nurses try to practice 20th century medicine under 19th century conditions.

The U.S. surgical team — one of two such civilian teams in South Viet Nam on loan from the U.S. Public Health Service — has been here since early 1963. Its function under the U.S. Operations Mission, an overseas aid program, is to help counter Communist insurgency and spread American good will.

One U.S. aid official calls the program an enormous success, on balance, but adds that it faces overwhelming odds in a land where the practice of modern medicine is virtually impossible.

"Our main purpose is to pay our bills and to save as many people from dying as possible," said Louis M. Wahrmund of Fredericksburg, Tex., a regional director.

The medical experiment started off with four civilian teams but dwindled to half this number because of lack of recruits from the United States. The American doctors, who volunteer their services, wind up frustrated and embittered, victims of what they call cultural shock.

Dr. Vernon Fitchett, 37, of Newell, Iowa, the chief medical officer, describes the condition this way:

"You come here thinking you're going to change things. Then you find out the hospital has no hot water, no sewage system and often no electricity.

"The flies in our wards wouldn't be tolerated in a pig sty. Hospitals in the states have semiprivate rooms, but we have semiprivate cots, two or three patients to a cot.

"You perform a five-hour operation, but the patient dies because no blood is available, or there's a lack of trained nurses.

"So you come to accept that you cannot transfer the miracle of modern medicine from our culture to one that is ill-prepared for it. So you adopt another set of standards over here."

Analysis of Latin America By Correspondent for AP

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this analysis has returned from a swing through Latin America, starting in the Dominican Republic and extending through South America.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has Latin-American political leaders in a state of stunned puzzlement, as if wondering whether the honeymoon of the Kennedy years is over. There is a new look, and it seems a tougher one.

Yet, despite a detectable touch of uneasiness among Latin-American leaders, the results may prove healthy. In fact, there is an excitement being churned up in Latin America about the future, as if in many cases a corner had been turned and the Americans were on the edge of something new and promising.

Even the U.S. military intervention in the Dominican Republic seems to have had a sobering effect. Washington seemed agreeably surprised at the lack of a chain of political explosions tied to the Dominican crisis. Yet, if the intervention had not happened, the qualitative changes in much of Latin America would have been less easy to detect.

The intervention, without the formality of inter-American approval in advance, was only one aspect of what appears to be a new direction for U.S. policy.

In effect, this policy would say to Latin-American leaders. "Pull up your socks and get to work. The United States can help with men and money, but what happens to your countries depends upon yourselves."

This has not been stated. It is an impression gained from unspoken attitudes among administration figures and Latin-American politicians and diplomats.

One hears from highly placed persons in Washington sentiments like this: "It's time for the Latin Americans to stop crying and stop blaming everything on the Yankees. They know what is wrong with them, and only they can change it."

Another impression gained among administration figures is that the United States has no intention of apologizing for actions it takes in its own national interests.

There is a hint of annoyance at the legalistic arguments of Latin-American governments which shy away from hemisphere political cooperation and which, in the words of one U.S. source, "refuse to face up to the fact that there is a hemisphere problem of Communist subversion."

Some governments oppose the special meeting of the Organization of American States scheduled next month in Rio de Janeiro. They seem fearful they will be asked to strengthen OAS machinery against subversion. The message they seem to be getting from the administration is that now is the time to face up to the problem, since they must do so in any event sooner or later.

Vets, Families Urged to Visit Service Agency

Charles L. Culver, State Veteran Counselor and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, today extended an invitation to all veterans and their families to stop in at their local office of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and their Veterans' Service Agency in the new County Office Building, Main and Fair Streets and become acquainted with the many services available.

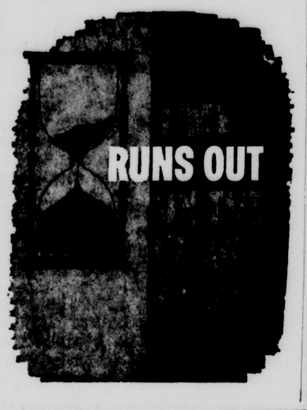

The counseling office is conveniently located in the Ulster County Office Building, on the third floor, and this office is open daily, Monday through Friday for convenience of veterans and their families.

The counselor and director noted that state and federal veterans benefits as well as veterans' family status, are constantly undergoing change. State Veterans Counselors and Directors of Veterans' Service Agencies are periodically briefed on changes in regulations concerning benefits and are well qualified to provide personalized counseling to veterans and their families.

Citing recent instances of change in benefits, Culver and Tyler told of the re-opening of the National Service Life Insurance program to certain disabled veterans, providing them with a change to obtain additional insurance to make up for the GI insurance they may have dropped years ago.

Of interest also, is the fact that pension payments for veterans and their dependents were increased in January of this year; in addition, new laws make it possible to provide drugs and medicines, prescribed by duly authorized physicians, to veterans receiving disability pensions at the new increased rate for aid and attendance.

For complete up-to-date information and counseling concerning all veterans benefits, veterans and their families are urged to visit this office at their earliest convenience," they concluded.

Slight Per Cent Favors South

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A letter from Columbus, Ohio, reads, "In a recent duplicate every South player became declarer at three no-trump and every West opened the queen of hearts. How should South plan his play?"

The answer is that South can count six top tricks and needs to acquire three more. He can make two by an immediate attack in clubs, but this will give the defense time to get their hearts established before South has any chance to go after a ninth trick in spades. So South can see that it is up to him to attack spades at trick two.

If he wins the first heart in his own hand and leads his low spade toward dummy West cannot afford to rise with his ace since that play will give South three spade tricks in addition to six tricks in aces and kings. Therefore, West will have to duck. South will hold the trick in dummy and must go right after clubs. He will lose the third club trick to West and West will set up his hearts, but now South already has made a ninth trick in spades.

If South wins the first trick in dummy and leads a spade toward his jack he will go down because West will take his ace immediately and South will only have set up two spade tricks and he still has not set up clubs. On the other hand if East held the spade ace the lead of a spade from dummy would be the winning play.

There is a slight percentage in favor of the actual winning play. Even if East holds the ace of spades he may hold off when a spade is led to dummy's king. He shouldn't but he just might.

Kennedys Off On River Run For Holiday

ELK SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Don Hatch, the veteran river runner who leads the Sen. Robert F. Kennedy party down the Yampa and Green Rivers along the Utah-Colorado border today, says he isn't worried about the river rapids.

The Kennedy family, including wife Ethel and five of the couple's nine children, flew to Vernal, Utah, Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. James Whittaker and their two sons.

Whittaker was with Kennedy when he became the first person to ascend Mt. Kennedy in Canada. Whittaker, of Seattle, Wash., was the first American to climb Mt. Everest.

Hatch, 37, is a school teacher who has been running the rivers since childhood. He will command the three 27-foot rubber rafts the party will use in the 83-mile journey.

The party travels from Lily Park on the Yampa River in northwestern Colorado to Dinosaur Quarry on the Green River in eastern Utah.

The trip will take them through the wild canyon lands of the border country. The Yampa joins the Green River at Echo Park, where the party plans to spend its first night.

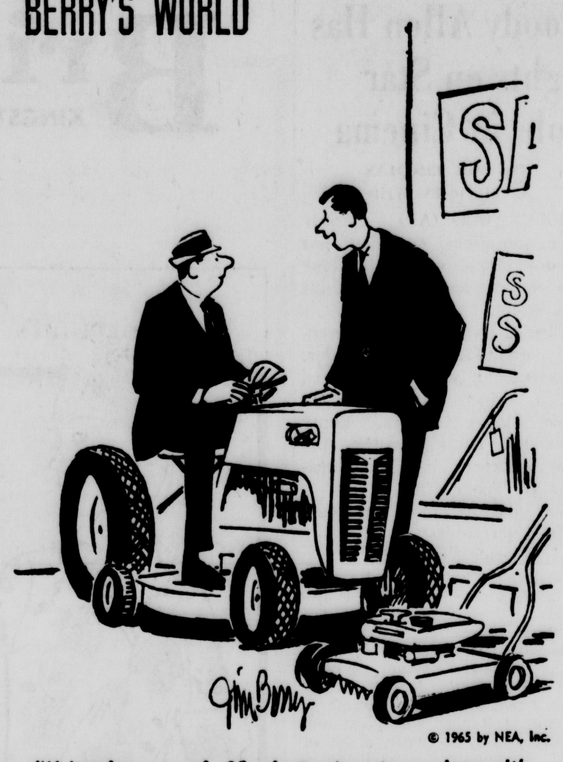

Most of the river journey is within the bounds of Dinosaur National Monument, an area famous for its important dinosaur discoveries. A quarry at the south end of the monument is where the group will wind up its flot about noon on Sunday.

Hatch said there were about eight spots in the rivers known as rapids. But he said they were not considered dangerous.

Kennedy told newsmen he was making the trip because "I've never done it before."

FDR Jr. Is Out Of N.Y. Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. has announced he will not enter the free-for-all for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

The son of the late president also said at a news conference in Washington Thursday:

"There are already five well-qualified candidates actively seeking the Democratic nomination. I am confident any one of them could beat the Republican candidate...."

Three weeks ago, Roosevelt had said he would accept the nomination only if it was offered by the "right people" and there was no contested primary.

Other mayoral race developments:

— City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, a candidate for the Democratic nomination, asked the Liberal Party for permission to enter its primary against Rep. John V. Lindsay who has been endorsed for mayor at a citywide conference of the Liberals.

— Two other candidates for the Democratic nomination — City Council President Paul R. Screvane and Rep. William F. Ryan — said they would follow Beame's example if the Liberals allowed him to enter the primary.

— The Conservative Party completed its citywide ticket which is headed by magazine editor William F. Buckley Jr. for mayor. Mrs. Rosemary R. Gunning, a Queens lawyer and leader of last year's school boycott protesting compulsory busing of pupils to achieve greater classroom integration, was chosen for city council president.

Dear Abby . . .

It's A Big Gap!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-age girl, old enough to go with boys, but I've never had a real date. I am sure it's because of my teeth. I have a space between my two front teeth, big enough for another tooth to fit into. I attract boys, but when I give them a smile, they are gone. My parents say as long as I can chew okay and my teeth don't ache I don't need a dentist, as they can't afford it right now. Every one calls me the girl with her teeth parted in the middle. I know other people have worse problems, but what can I do about mine?

SELF CONSCIOUS

DEAR SELF: I understand your plea for a pretty smile, and agree with it. Ask your parents to let you find a good dentist with a "time-payment" plan. As a girl's face can be her fortune, her smile can be the "interest."

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband passed away a very short time ago. While I was still numb from grief and shock, his mother barged into my home and demanded that I return the furniture which she had given us when we were first married. This furniture was old and she was going to throw it away, but my husband rescued it from the junk heap and he and I refinished it.

I never knew that things given to one's husband had to be returned after his death. Is this legal? My friends tell me I should see a lawyer. Should I?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: First, tell your deceased husband's mother that you have been advised to consult a lawyer. After that, I don't think you'll have to.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day, but never thought I'd be writing to you. I have a wonderful husband in every respect, except for one. He smokes his cigarettes down until they are about a quarter of an inch long. That is no lie. He has to drop it from his mouth into an ash tray because he can't get hold of it with his fingers. He has bought many cigarette holders, but the plastic ones melt and the metal ones have to have the remains dug out. Once the butt stuck to his lips and I had to use a pair of tweezers to get it off. I've tried telling him about it in private, and even making fun of him in public, but I just can't win. Help!

HAVE HAD IT

DEAR HAVE: If you've tried telling him in private and teasing him in public, and haven't been able to win, the only solution is for you to become a better loser. Sorry, but there is no teaching a man who doesn't care to learn.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: A serviceman once wrote that he was hurt because no respectable girl was allowed to date a man in uniform. He reminded me of a serviceman I once met when I was 16. He also said that he missed being made welcome in a home camparable to that of his parents'. I felt so sorry for him that I talked it over with my parents. They trusted me and agreed to give some of these servicemen chance to show they were gentlemen. Mother got in touch with the chaplain at the base near our town and asked him to send 2 nice young men to our home for a swimming party and barbecue supper. I invited 19 nice girls to be their dates. It was so much fun that we did this every Sunday. The parties were chaperoned by my parents, and I can honestly say that there was not one serviceman who got out of line. I am now 37, happily married and have three daughters. And if THEY want to date servicemen, I'm going to use the same plan my parents used for me. Thank you.

According to information received today from the American National Red Cross by the Ulster County Chapter, Red Cross damage survey teams are continuing to study devastation in Colorado and New Mexico as assistance to victims goes on in the disaster area.

Eldon Bush, Colorado-New Mexico Red Cross disaster director, says Red Cross has spent $171,000 with the big outlay yet to come in meeting long-range family needs. More than 1,500 families have registered for Red Cross assistance in Colorado alone.

Late surveys in Colorado show 265 homes have been destroyed, 4,717 homes have suffered damage, 701 house trailers are destroyed or have major damage, 673 small businesses have been destroyed or have major damage and 648 farm buildings are destroyed or severely damaged.

New Mexico surveys show five homes destroyed, 133 with damage, 13 house trailers destroyed or damaged, and 25 farm build ings destroyed.

Red Cross reports more than 9,700 familes have been affectetd by the two weeks of disasters in the two states. Reports show 38,625 victims and emegency workers have been sheltered or fed by Red Cross during this period.

Only two shelters remained open in Colorado Sunday, June 27, as families rapidly relocated with friends, relatives or returned to their homes.

In Denver, Colo., the hardest hit area, Red Cross expenditures of more than $120,00 have helped more than 700 families with emergency needs—only the beginning. One Denver citizen, a retired coal miner in his late 70's, visited the Red Cross June 28 to contribute $110 to help families, saying, "My wife and I don't have much, but the flood spared us. I want to help."

During the past week 70 youths enrolled in the nation's job corps program were in Colorado removing debris in Sterling and Lamar. Red Cross will feed the job corps crews during their work assignments at various points in the state.

Red Cross workers in Denver have commented on the patience and self-reliance of the flood victims. Unlike the slow-rising Midwestern floods, flash floods in Colorado and New Mexico forced evacuees out with nothing but the clothing they were wearing.

Local citizens may make contributions to this work of the National American Red Cross through their donations to the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter and the Ulster County Community Chest.

Films Scheduled For Arts Festival Of Local Library

Preparations for the Mid-summer Arts Festival are progressing at Kingston City Library. Film confirmations are being received daily for almost 100 prize winning features to appear on the month-long program starting in August.

Almost all of the Bell Telephone series on nature have been confirmed for appearance during that part of the festival. Included will be The Restless Sea, a new Walt Disney production dealing with oceanography and the mysteries of the deep. The Unchained Goddess will explain the mysteries of weather, and show more of man's schemes to control it.

Our Mr. Sun will combine cartoon animation to illustrate the dramatic story of the sun and its effects on our lives. The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays will employ science fiction methods to solve a real detective story. These four features are each prize winners. All are more than an hour in length and are in technicolor.

In addition to that, art enthusiasts will have the opportunity during the art series at the festival to see Grandma Moses explain her work, watch a team of architects plan a skyscraper, sit in on conversation with Frank Lloyd Wright, follow the development of art from the cavemen to Picasso in a dozen color films, and tour the most famous art galleries of the world.

Music lovers can be prepared to visit Strauss's Vienna, hear Arthur Rubenstein describe the art, and go on tours of the homes of Beethoven, Handel and Mozart, as well as hearing and seeing some of the world's greatest symphonies and choral works being performed.

Writers, during the series on writing, will see such diverse films as Assignment Mankind, the story of the Christian Science Monitor, Robert Frost, the Life of James Fenimore Cooper, and even Minister of Hate, the story of the propagandist von Ribbentrop.

Persons who are just interested in seeing some fine films on people and places can watch Raymond Massey in Abraham Lincoln, or journey through the fierce cold to conquer the South Pole in Antarctic Crossing. Armchair travelers will see not one, but five Walt Disney films on Austria, Belgium, Japan, Switzerland and Yugoslavia. There will even be A Tour of the White House with Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

After final confirmations are received during the second week in July, a full program listing of the events and films to be shown at the festival will be released by the library.

All films are being provided free of charge through the State Film Library, Mid-Hudson Libraries three film services and a number of private industries. The festival, which will start in August, will also be free.

Why We Say--

FARM RACE: This phrase was widely used around 1796 when farmers in England began a race with each other to get their fruit to market before others so that the selling price would be higher. Special carts were made for carrying apples, but at night bands of farmers would knock over carts to prevent competition. We now use the phrase for interfering or wrecking plans. And George Bernard Shaw revived its use in modern times in his play "The Apple Cart." Oddly enough, the Romans had a similar saying.

Democrat Monaghan Agrees Parleys Mess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., says he agrees with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's criticism of the confusion at the last Republican presidential convention.

Monagan told the House that "the delegate is gradually becoming a mere incident to the phenomenon of the convention and losing all identity, while television cameramen and producers are creating issues, influencing the convention, and controlling its image in the national consciousness."

But Monagan was not trying to be partisan about it. He said, "I must admit that ours was more of a mess than the Republican one."

New River Valley Commission Will Meet Wednesday

NEW YORK—Representatives of the Hudson River Valley Commission and nine federal agencies interested in conservation of the valley will meet Wednesday at Bear Mountain it was announced by Laurance S. Rockefeller, commission chairman.

The commission is making a comprehensive survey of the valley, to be sent to Governor Rockefeller and the New York State Legislature by February, 1966. "Cooperation with all public agencies which have a knowledge and interest in the Hudson River Valley is an essential part of the survey," the chairman said. "It is expected that such agencies will be able to contribute valuable information and advice throughout the study."

The federal agencies invited include the Urban Renewal Administration, Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service, Bureau of Public Roads, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Public Health Service, National Park Service, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, and the Fish and Wildlife Service.

"New York State agencies — such as the Office of Regional Development and the Departments of Conservation, Commerce, Public Works, Education, and Health — have likewise been contacted by the commission and they are providing valuable information," Rockefeller said, adding: "Their assistance, together with the assistance of the counties, towns, cities, and villages, is basic to the commission's success in formulating recommendations for the conservation, development and use of the valley's resources."

Overcomes Handicap

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A 32-year-old woman confined to a wheel chair, who was unable to find a job despite having graduated with honors from Rhode Island College, has been hired as a full-time teacher in Warwick.

The college said Gail D. Holland will begin teaching five history classes in September at Veterans Memorial High School.

Miss Holland was crippled by arthritis when she was 18 months old.

Woody Allen Has Sights on Star Role in Cinema

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Woody Allen, the offbeat comedian, has his own offbeat way of breaking into the movies: He wrote his own script.

Allen draws the sole screenplay credit for "What's New, Pussycat," a wild, sex-oriented comedy which stars Peter O'Toole, Peter Sellers, Romy Schneider, Paula Prentiss, Ursula Andress and, not incidentally, Woody Allen.

How did he know he could write a screenplay?

Don't Need Plot

"I didn't," he admitted during a brief foray into the Hollywoods. "I had never written anything with a plot beyond that of a Sid Caesar sketch, say.

"As a matter of fact, 'What's New, Pussycat' doesn't really have a plot per se. As I wrote it, I realized it was sprawling and formless. But so were a lot of good comedies, particularly those with the Marx Brothers. Their pictures made no sense, but they were hilarious. So I decided as long as the audience keeps laughing, you don't need a plot."

"Pussycat" is indeed formless and funny. It stems not from the black comedy of the theater of the absurd, but from Allen's own medium, the avant garde night club. He is working, or rather, writing his way out of the clubs — not that he dislikes them, but he has other fields to conquer.

Short, slight and insignificant-looking, Woody Allen seems the least likely candidate for movie star. Yet that's what he wants to be. Not just a featured comic, as he is in "Pussycat," but a star.

Had to Start Somewhere

"I had to start somewhere," he explained. "Charles Feldman, the producer, offered me a very large paycheck to write the script, so I accepted. I started writing, but I soon found I was losing control of what I did; others were interfering with suggestions and changes. I adore the medium of movies, but you must maintain control.

"I quit in the middle. Feldman induced me to come back, giving me additional money. 'This film will be our film,' he told me; 'The next one will be yours'."

He is now hard at work on his film. It is called "Take the Money and Run," and you can read whatever you want into that. This time the Woody Allen role will be substantial.

New Book Jackets Are Ordered Due to Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The book former Postmaster General J. Edward Day wrote is getting a new jacket.

When early copies of the book, "My Appointed Round: 929 Days as Postmaster General," appeared here, it was immediately noted that the dust jacket was decorated with color photographs of U.S. airmail stamps. The law forbids such color reproductions, and the maximum penalty for violation is 15 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

So Holt, Rinehart and Winston, the New York publisher, has ordered booksellers to destroy the dust jacket. They're ordering a new one. The publication date is July 8.

Cleveland Is Taking Place of Finletter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas K. Finletter is resigning as ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and will be replaced by Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state.

President Johnson, announcing the changes Thursday, said he would name Joseph J. Sisco, a career Foreign Service officer, to replace Cleveland as assistant secretary for international organization affairs.

Finletter, 71, is retiring to private life. He has been ambassador to NATO for 4 ½ years.

Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

QUI NHON, Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

This is a city under enemy siege where no American is pushing the panic button.

It is a city haunted by bitter memories and by many refugees. War, the orphan maker, orphans many here daily.

Many Bitter Memories

The bitter memories stem from the terrorist bombing last Feb. 10 of the Hotel Viet Cua. Viet Cong agents blew up the four-story building, then being used to quarter enlisted men of an aviation maintenance company. Some 23 Americans were among the 37 killed.

"We worked for 70 hours straight before others arrived to help us," said a survivor. "We had to level the building to get everybody out."

No trace of the hotel now exists. Its site is used as a truck parking lot, and newcomers here pass it by unheeding. But those who were here then still carry memory scars.

Sea Only Safe Direction

There is only one really safe direction in this key city in the central Vietnamese lowlands between Saigon and Da Nang. That is seaward, for we still control its watery access.

But the area westward from here to Pleiku and the Cambodian and Laotian borders is a heartland of Viet Cong activity. Military leaders worry about the possibility that the enemy might try to snip the country in two along this axis in a dare-all gamble.

Qui Nhon, rebuilt since it was razed and looted in 1945, is a neat-looking city of French colonial design. Its streets are wide and well kept.

City of Tragedy, Misery

But it has become a city of tragedy and mass misery. Refugees flocking in for safety from outlying villages have nearly doubled its normal population of 50,000.

Its plight only reflects the situation throughout the province of Binh Dinh, which is the second largest of South Viet Nam's 44 provinces, and its most populous area with the exception of Saigon.

A large percentage of the refugees are Roman Catholics and strongly anti-Communist. Most have chosen to uproot their lives and flee here rather than cooperae with the guerrillas in their native villages.

The refugees are huddled in 25 camps throughout the province. One of the seven camps here houses 10,000 homeless men, women and children.

They dwell behind barbed wire in abject conditions. They are fed and given what clothing is available and about five cents a day each to care for their other needs. Disease flourishes.

A tale to be taken with a grain of salt:

Millions of propaganda leaflets have been dropped in enemy territory in hope of spreading disunity in the ranks of the Viet Cong.

One defector turned up carrying a bundle of the leaflets.

A psychological warfare officer questioned him as to whether his mind had been swayed by the leaflets.

"No, I can't read or write," said the defector. "My commander ordered me to go around and pick up all these pieces of paper — and I just got tired of doing it."

Dutchess Officials Against Gotham Tapping Hudson

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —City and county officials in Dutchess County are apprehensive over a New York City proposal to tap the Hudson River.

The State Water Resources Commission said Thursday that it had received complaints from Mayor Christopher Atkinson of Poughkeepsie, Mayor Robert Shackleton of Rhinebeck and the Dutchess County Water Agency.

A commission spokesman noted, however, that New York City officials had not applied for state permission to draw drinking water from the Hudson.

The Dutchess County officials said they fear that additional draining of the river would lower its level and increase its salt content.

Plan Ecumenical Rites

BOSTON (AP) — The Cathedral of the Pines in Jaffrey, N.H., will celebrate its 20th anniversary Aug. 26 with an ecumenical service by representatives of 21 faiths, says Dr. Douglas Sloane, founder of the cathedral.

The outdoor cathedral, which is open to all faiths, was started in 1945 in memory of Sloane's son, Lt. Sanderson Sloane, a World War II B17 bomber pilot killed in action over Germany.

Advise Graduates Opportunities Are Unlimited in AF

SSgt. Robert A. Milling, Ulster County Air Force recruiter announced today that unlimited opportunities exist in the Air Force for high school graduates in this area.

Sgt. Milling said that travel, training, adventure, education, prestige and pride of service can all be found on the Aerospace Team. Any young man who wants to participate in the educational programs will find that their goal of a college degree is readily available and does not involve a lot of unatainable pre-requisites, and further more the government will pay 75 per cent of the college tuition which does not involve an extension of the members service contract.

Although correspondence courses are valuable and are offered by all services Sgt Milling said that on campus study is still the most advantageous to an individual in his efforts to gain a degree. The opportunities for on-campus study under the Air Force "Operation Bootstrap" program are probably the best offered since these opportunities are offered at every Air Base, stateside or overseas.

In explaining the program, Sgt. Milling said that it is a matter of simple reasoning for one to realize that his educational opportunities are much better while stationed at an Air Base than those opportunities offered to individuals where no colleges could possibly exist.

The Air Force realizes that any individual who really wants education should not be discouraged and reasoning behind the "Operation Bootstrap" method is that no individual can gain knowledge in the Air Force without benefitting both the individual and the Air Force.

In addition to "Operation Bootstrap" the Air Force has five other educational programs all of which lead to a college degree, and one program that leads directly to a degree and a commission with the Air Force paying all expenses. The Air Force needs 100,000 men a year to maintain our mission, and while we prefer young men who are interested in learning a technical trade the need still exists for mechanics, ground crew members etc.

Grossly Misled

Sgt. Milling said: "It has come to my attention that over the past few months many young men in this area have either been grossly misled or given false information concerning enlistment with the Armed Forces.

The mental requirements for the Air Force are higher than for some other branches of the military and this can easily be verified by checking with the Armed Forces Examining Station in Albany. Sgt. Milling said that the Air Force administers a separate aptitude test before an individual is sent to Albany to take the AFQT (Armed Forces Qualification Test) and that the applicant must pass first the aptitude test and then the AFQT. The AFQT is a standard test given to all enlistees regardless of branch of service.

In some branches of the service counsel and guidance is given only on the results of the AFQH, while the Air Force uses their Airman Qualification Examination, a recognized guidance test.

The Air Force policy is to explain all the advantages and benefits available to young men and let them decide for themselves which branch would provide them with the benefits they are seeking, the sergeant said.

Advises: Shop Around

My final advise to any young man is this: Shop around and try to compare benefits, living conditions, quarters, food, educational benefits, training and travel opportunities available to you through each branch of the military, don't jump and regret it later, after all, once the oath of enlistment is taken regrets are too late. And remember, all of the services have something to offer, or none of the service representatives would be in the community. If you want advise on the Air Force, see your Air Force recruiter, he is the only qualified representative in Ulster County to advise anyone on Air Force life and benefits. Good luck to all the recent graduates, and remember "Mans Flight Through Life Is Sustained by the Power of His Knowledge."

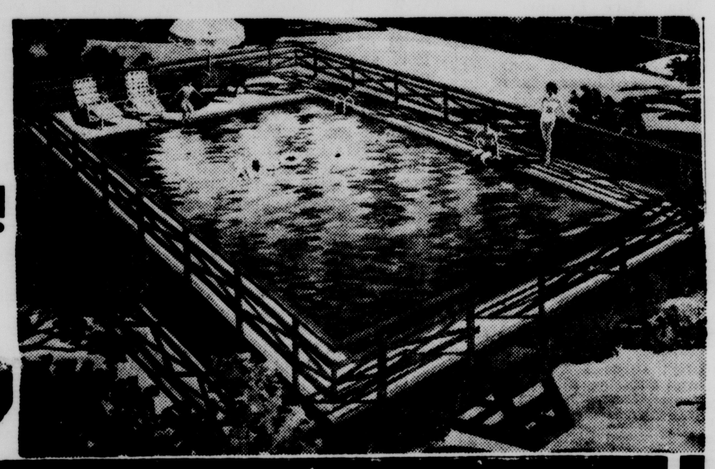

President Dwight Eisenhower was first U.S. president ever to travel under the sea in an atomic submarine.

Los Alamos Makes No Secret Of Its Atomic Operations

By FRANK CAREY

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — During World War II years when the first atomic bombs were being secretly made in this mountain hideaway, one of the rumors in distant towns concerning what the scientists were up to was this.

"They're making windshield wipers for submarines."

Creates Nuclear Arms

Today, the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission makes no secret of the fact that it, and another laboratory at Livermore, are the places where all the nation's bombs, missiles and other nuclear arms are created.

Even so, some pretty unusual, nonweapons activities are going on at both laboratories.

These include:

1. The quest to harness the fearsome hydrogen bomb reaction for peacetime electricity production — a quest which was pioneered at Los Alamos in a machine dubbed the "perhapsatron."

2. The "Rover Project" — The dream of using nuclear reactors to propel spacecraft to distant planets, perhaps at speeds approaching the velocity of light, instead of using conventional chemical boosters.

For Peacetime Uses

3. "Plowshare" — The program aimed at using nuclear explosives for peacetime uses in a range from manufacturing new elements and increasing the flow of natural gas deep underground to carving out canals and harbors on the earth's surface.

The two men who are most immediately responsible for keeping America's nuclear arsenal stocked with the very best in the weapons field are Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, director of the Los Alamos lab, and Dr. John Foster, director at Livermore, which is a branch of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California at Berkeley.

Bradbury was one of the developers of the original A-bombs in those hush-hush days when the Army took over an exclusive boys ranch school and built a secret city around it.

Bradbury says weapons still constitute at least 50 per cent of the lab's effort, and that "if the chips were down" — and war was on or imminent — his entire staff of 7,000 would be working full blast on the exclusive effort of producing even more powerful, efficient and sophisticated weapons.

First Real Step

From the start of discussions leading up to the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty — which outlaws all but underground testing — Bradbury was convinced that such a move offered the "possibility of taking the first real, even if small, step in the direction of the prevention of a nuclear war."

And he says "We've learned to test underground successfully."

The Atomic Energy Commission, in formal reports, has said that "significant progress" has been made in both offensive and defensive nuclear capability during the period of underground testing.

Foster was at first vigorously opposed to calling off atmospheric nuclear tests.

U.S. at Disadvantage

He argued, in testimony before congressional committees, that the elimination of atmospheric tests would disadvantage the United States more than Russia.

He says his fears have been eased somewhat by the relatively rapid pace of America's underground testing and by what he terms clear evidence that the laboratories have continued to maintain top people and vigorous programs.

Foster also says that the treaty — which stipulates that radioactivity from underground tests be kept within the territorial limits of the testing country — is "preventing us from proceeding as vigorously as we otherwise might" with canal-digging and kindred potential applications of the Plowshare program.

"We're doing our best," he said, "to 'clean up' nuclear explosives so that the radioactivity will be lessened.

Would Be Violation

"But, as for exploding, say, 100 kilotons — the equivalent of 100,000 tons of TNT — to produce craters for something like the Panama Canal, we can't do this today without violating the treaty — at least as it's being interpreted by he United States."

However, Foster and other AEC "Plowshare" experts make clear that even under strictest interpretation of the treaty, many valuable lessons can be learned from cratering experiments of more modest explosive yields.

They also point out that deep-underground Plowshare tests — the ones involving no cratering at all — offer rich potential for yielding other peacetime benefits for man. These would include such possibilities as releasing oil from shale deposits difficult to tap by conventional techniques.

Conservationists Fighting Hard to Save River Fork

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — While the nation races to save some of its remaining wild rivers, California conservationists are in an 11th hour fight over one of the state's last wilderness streams.

The State Water Right Board, after three years of study, hearing and controversy, has approved plans for a series of water and power dams on the Middle Fork of the Feather River.

Construction crews will move onto the river in the rugged Sierra next year if the Federal Power Commission, the sole remaining obstacle, approves the project and grants a permit.

Four water districts seeking irrigation supplies for rice farms in the Sacramento Valley say the project is needed to provide low cost water and would offer added recreation opportunities at its reservoirs.

Conservationists say it would ruin one of California's finest wild trout streams to give 1,200 farmers free water that could as easily be obtained from a nearby state reservoir or elsewhere.

The Middle Fork of the colorful river rises in a valley of the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

It tumbles to the central valley in a series of trout-laden riffles and polls. Its 17-mile canyon stretch — steep rock walls in a barely accessible pine forest wilderness — is a magnet for outdoorsmen.

Claim Made That Small Airports Penalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Transport Association says federal aid programs, under their present criteria, penalize small airports.

An ATA committee said Thursday that although new and improved landing aids have made airline service more reliable at large airports, "present (Federal) practices effectively bar smaller airports from receiving the required federal assistance.

The committee, composed of representatives of 13 local service airlines, cited Watertown, N.Y. as one airport in need of improved landing equipment but unable to qualify under present aid criteria.

The report said equipment was needed at the smaller airports to lower the weather minimums for safe landing "minimuns which will permit really reliable service."

The report listed these airports as requiring aid:

Allegheny Airlines — Jamestown, N.Y.

Mohawk Airlines — Ithaca, Watertown, Glens Falls, Massena, Plattsburgh and Saranac Lake, N.Y.

Luci Johnson Turns 18 Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson turns 18 today and plans to have her birthday cake during a quiet evening party at the White House.

A few friends were invited to join the festivities, described as "nothing elaborate."

President and Mrs. Johnson plan to mark Luci's birthday during the day. Two weeks ago they gave their younger daughter a combination birthday-graduation gift, a green Corvette Stingray convertible. Luci was graduated last month from the National Cathedral School for Girls here.

A working girl during the summer months, Luci got permission to stay away today from her part-time job as optometric technician in the office of Dr. Robert Kraskin.

Come September, Luci will begin classes at the Georgetown University School of Nursing here. She plans to take a four-year course and pick up a bachelor of science degree as well as the credentials of a registered nurse.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

WHY YOU SHOULD MAKE A WILL

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 2—It is surprising—and even shocking—to realize how many seemingly intelligent people go through life never getting around to making a will. Talk with these people and they will agree with you that they really ought to do something about it. Most of them, in fact, will assure you they are going to have their wills drawn. . ."very soon" —they just haven't had the time.

Delay Is Dangerous

The only reason for anyone to delay making a will appears to be the natural reluctance to face the fact of death. This subject is never a pleasant one; but ignoring it doesn't do away with it. Regardless of one's age the unexpected can happen, and tomorrow just may not be soon enough to get to the important business of drawing a will. This is something that should be taken very seriously by young people as well as older ones. Remember that your estate consists of more than your home and surrounding land or other real prperty you may own; it includes also your stocks, bonds, saving accounts, automobile, furniture, and all of your personal possessions.

Far too many people put off making a will until it is too late . . .with the result that their estates are often distributed in whole or in part to persons to whom they never intended to leave anything. As just one instance we cite the case of a friend who was always intending to draw up his will—"next week." Before that next week arrived, however, he was taken suddenly with a heart attack while crossing the street and died without making a will. By order of the probate court, legal notice of his death was published in the papers. More than 30 people appeared from nowhere and made claims as "relatives." Most of these were persons whom neither the deceased nor his family had ever heard of. But soon over 30 lawyers were suing for their clients' "share" in the dead man's estate. Because of the numerous claims in this particular case, each of the 30 or so unknown "relatives" was finally paid a small sum just to get rid of them. The result was that the widow—instead of receiving her full share of the estate—found the total had been cut back to the point where she got only half the amount . . . simply because of her husband's carelessness in not making a will.

Go To A Good Lawyer

In making a will, do not be content to take the advice of your insurance agent, your minister, your doctor, or some friend who may offer to "save you money." Whether you are a man or woman, a teenager or an older person, you should make out and sign a will which has been prepared for you by a good lawyer. Don't try to cut corners on this; the fee you pay him, whether it is $25.00 or $50.00, is the best investment you can make.

It is vitaly important to realize that only a professional lawyer—skilled in drawing up wills — knows how to do the right thing by you. Such a lawyer will avoid the pitfalls that some of your well-meaning but less experienced friends might fall into. He will be careful to protect your interests and those of your heirs without taking any undue risks. Be sure to tell your lawyer everything about yourself, what you want to accomplish and how much property you have with which to do it.

Don't cover up anything in the mistaken idea that if the lawyer knows how much you really are worth he may overcharge you! Choose your lawyer carefully in the first place, then trust him with the details.

Do It Now

Our main purpose in this column has been to impress on readers the tremendous importance of making a will. The whole subject, however, is much too complex to cover in one short article; hence we plan to follow this up with a few more suggestions next week including codicils. Let us simply close this article with the reminder that our advice to readers to MAKE A WILL applies to all of you. If you have someone you love and want to protect, get started on that protection now!

New Algerian Regime Is Seen As More Neutral

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

ALGIERS (AP) — The new Algerian regime, in the opinion of Western diplomats here, is moving toward a more neutral position in world affairs coupled with an anti-Communist policy at home.

This can have a wide effect on political relations among the nations of the African-Asian community.

It can lead many nations to take a new look at the "second Bandung" summit, now scheduled for Nov. 5.

Cherif Belkacem, minister of education and information in the new regime, served notice of the switch in domestic policy in an interview with the official newspaper.

Belkacem put it this way:

"We have known strange professors who, incapable of achieving the revolution in their own countries, pretend to be doing it here, according to plans which have nothing to do with Algeria.

"We have put them aside. We do not want them as guides. They are free to go where they wish, but not to indoctrinate our youth."

Col. Houari Boumedienne's regime has expelled a number of French, Chinese and Egyptian Communists who acted as advisers to deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two correspondents of the Paris Communist paper L'Humanite also have been expelled.

On the other hand, Fidel Castro in Cuba and Sekou Toure in Guinea have issued statements attacking Boumedienne. Castro called Boumedienne a "military despot, a rightist, a reactionary, and an enemy of socialism and the Algerian revolution."

Boumedienne's military regime ordered Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, to close its Algiers office Thursday because it distributed copies of Castro's speech.

Toure praised Ben Bella and said he hoped Algerians will avoid a "Congolization" of their country.

This points to closer relations with French-speaking states of "black Africa" which refused to attend the Afro-Asian session as originally scheduled here June 29.

It also points to better relations with Algeria's neighbors in the Arab world, Tunisia to the east and Morocco to the west.

The new regime is expected to tread a careful course between East and West, much in the manner of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Will Address Taft Institute Series At Paltz in Fall

Ulster County's Republican chairman, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, has accepted an invitation from the Robert A. Taft Institute of Government to speak on local campaign problems at a political conference at State University College at New Paltz.

The Taft Institute, under the chairmanship of Alexander Aldrich, administrative assistant to Gov. Rockefeller, is the sponsor of the Mid-Hudson Institute for Citizenship Education which is presenting a series of eight conferences on national, state and local politics.

Nov. 12-13 Series

Assemblyman Wilson is scheduled to speak during the third conference of the series, held during the weekend of Nov. 12-13. The conferences begin Sept. 17 and will continue until May 21, 1966.

The Paltz conferences will be attended by teachers and educators from throughout the Mid-Hudson area who have volunteered their weekends to the study of practical, American politics and the relation between government and politics.

Chairman Aldrich said that Assemblyman Wilson was invited to the conference to speak on local politics in view of his "dual position as a local legislator and a county chairman."

In addition to the New Paltz site, meetings also have been scheduled for Marist College in Poughkeepsie and the State University College campsite in Shokan.

Subjects Listed

Subjects to be covered include The Necessity for Politics, Campaign Problems, National Problems, Local, Public Opinion, Compromise and Democracy, Legislative Action, Executive Action and Political Education.

Wilson, in confirming his acceptance of the invitation, said he welcomed the opportunity to be able to "contribute anything which might prove helpful to the educators of this area in gaining a clearer understanding of the problems of American government and politics."

He added that he also considered political education a subject of prime importance for the future citizens of this area as well and a subject which should be taught in local schools as part of the regular school curriculum.

"I feel the practical application of politics to our everyday life should be fully understood by the young people of today, who will be the voters of tomorrow. If our future citizens are not given some sort of education in American politics they may not be able to grasp the true meaning of American democracy and our American system of government and as a result they will be ill-prepared to go forth as adults in whose hands rest the legislative fate of their local, county, state and nation," the Woodstock legislator concluded.

To Be Tougher

the second time this year, a measure that would make it a crime for an employer to require a worker to submit to a lie-detector test as a condition to obtaining or keeping a job. He said the measure was defective in draftsmanship.

— He also rejected a bill that would have made it a crime for any motorist to follow a fire-engine closely, presumably while enroute to a fire.

Besides the bill applying to teenagers, Rockefeller approved a measure, also effective Oct. 1, that would require court clerks to notify the state motor vehicle commissioner when a driver fails to appear in court within six months after receiving a summons.

A part-time prisoner law goes into effect Sept. 1.

The bill's sponsor, Assemblyman Richard J. Bartlett, R-Warren County, observed that, under current law, a judge often is forced to choose between overlooking a defendant's repeated refusals to obey a support order or sending the family's long breadwinner to jail.

Drivers Plead Guilty After Check by Radar

Brewster, 23, of Phoenica, and Raymond Friedman, 40, of Walden. They were cited in the radar check by Patrolmen Ira Hadsel and George Deyo.

Judge Joseph D. Saccoman also fined Leroy Lawrence of New Paltz RFD 2, $25 when he admitted a charge of driving an unregistered vehicle.

Charge Pennsy Man in Fatal Camp Shooting

A 20-year-old Philadelphia man charged with second degree manslaughter in the fatal shooting of an 18-year-old companion at Spring Glen early today, was arraigned before Town of Rochester Justice of the Peace Abram Smith and committed to Ulster County Jail for further action.

Held by authorities is George Romanec of 738 West Master Street, Philadelphia, Pa., who reportedly took Walter Nykolak of 19 Sheridan Avenue, Brooklyn to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, where Nykolak was declared dead on arrival shortly after 3 a. m., suffering a gunshot wound in the right chest.

Authorities said the shooting occurred at the Ukrainian-American Youth Association Camp at Spring Gen.

Circumstances surrounding the shooting were unknown and an investigation was continuing today by Investigator Michael J. Mahoney, Troopers J. E. Kelly and R. R. Brooks of the Ellenville sub-station, and Corner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, who began the investigation at the hospital when the death was reported at 3:20 a. m. today.

Nykolak was shot in the right side of the chest with a .303 British-make rifle. The shooting took place on the porch of one of the camp buildings. It is believed the shooting was done by a companion while the two may have been fooling with the gun.

Nykolak was taken to Ellenville hospital by Romanec, assisted by Jerry Mychajluk of 78 Avenue C, New York City, both camp members.

Ellenville police escorted the car through the village to the hospital and State Police and Coroner Chipp were summoned to the hospital at 3:25 a. m.

An autopsy was ordered and the shooting was still under investigation today.

Senate in a Hurry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate met today for just three seconds, for the sole purpose of recessing over the July 4 holiday.

The Senate reconvenes Tuesday.

The token operation was necessary to meet the constitutional requirement that each house of Congress meet at least every three days during a session unless they have agreed on a formal recess.

Probe Jet Crash

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board opened investigation late Thursday into the crash of a jet airliner which skidded off a water-covered runway and broke into three pieces at Municipal Airport.

Four of the 66 persons aboard the Continental Airlines' 707 were hurt in the crash early Thursday.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market eased today after a three-day rally snipped a six-week losing streak.

Prices were irregularly lower and trading was moderate.

Brokers and investors were moving cautiously in advance of the three-day Fourth of July weekend. The market will be closed Monday.

The enthusiasm that accompanied the rally was somewhat dimmed by a fall in U.S. gold reserves to the lowest level since October 1938, a rise in unemployment in June and a drop in factory orders in May.

Changes of key issues were held mostly to fractions with a few going to around a point.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was down .4 to 319.3 with industrials off .5, rails off .6 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had dipped 0.38 to 871.21. It had been off more than a point an hour earlier.

Rubbers and utilities advanced while most other groups were mixed.

International Business Machines lost more than 3 points and Xerox and Control Data declined more than a point.

Prices were mixed in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged and Treasuries declined.

State Announces Details on New Sales Tax Levy

ALBANY, July 1 — State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy yesterday announced that New York State and local sales and use tax bracket schedules are available and that they will be mailed to approximately 650,000 vendors, along with tax return forms, about July 15.

Commissioner Murphy pointed out that the brackets determine the fractions at which the 2 per cent State sales tax and any local sales taxes will be collected. They will become operative when the new State Sales Tax Law becomes effective Aug. 1.

There are four brackets which will cover the combination of State and local sales and use taxes ranging from the minimum 2 per cent State tax through the combined total State and local tax rates of 3 per cent, 4 per cent and 5 per cent, the latter being the maximum permitted under the new law.

Where no local sales tax is in force, the 2 per cent State tax does not apply to purchases under 26c. From 26c to 65c, the tax is one cent. From 66c to 99c, the tax is two cents. On taxable purchases above 99c, 2 cents in tax must be collected by the vendor on each full dollar of purchase plus the rates at the "break points" listed above for amounts of less than a full dollar. Thus, on a taxable purchase of $8.65, in a 2 per cent State sales tax area, the total tax would be 17c.

In a 3 per cent combined State and local tax area—where the State 2 per cent tax and a local tax of one per cent are in force—the first cent of the sales tax begins with purchases of 17 cents to 40 cents; two cents in tax will be collected on purchases from 41 cents to 70 cents, and three cents on purchases of 71 cents to 99 cents. Above that amount, three cents in tax must be paid on each full dollar, plus the "break point" amounts on less than dollar amounts.

In areas where the combined State and local sales tax is 4 per cent, the first cent of sales tax is on purchases from 13 cents to 30 cents; two cents will be paid on purchases from 31 cents to 55 cents; three cents from 56 cents to 80 cents, and four cents from 81 cents to 99 cents.

In areas where the maximum combined State and local tax is 5 per cent, as it will be in New York City, the first cent of tax aplies to purchases from 11 cents to 25 cents; two cents from 26 cents to 45 cents; three cents from 46 cents to 65 cents; four cents from 66 cents to 85 cents, and five cents from 86 cents to 99 cents.

Commissioner Murphy said that copies of the sales tax brackets will be sent to every vendor who has registered with the Sales Tax Bureau, and will be made available through trade and business associations, merchant organizations, and on request to the Sales Tax Bureau, New York State Departmet of Taxation and Finance, Tax and Finance Building, State Campus, Albay. 12226.

Gollnick Named To Kingston Fire Department Force

Robert F. Gollnick, 24, of 81 Hone Street, was appointed a third grade fireman in the Kingston Fire Department at a special meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners, Thursday night. The appointment is effective Saturday.

Fireman Gollnick, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Frank Gollnick, is a graduate of Kingston High School and attended Ulster County Community College. He is married to the former Shirley Brandt. They have a daughter, Karen.

Faith Restored

NEW YORK (AP) — Words of sympathy and encouragement —including those of President Johnson — have restored faith in human nature to a young mother whose soldier-husband was killed in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Eleanor O'Sullivan, left with two small children, was the target last month of abusive telephone calls saying Capt. Christopher O'Sullivan "got what he deserved."

When accounts of the calls were published, letters and telegrams of sympathy poured into the Astoria, Queens, home of O'Sullivans.

President Johnson's letter said in part: "I sincerely hope that the memory of your husband's dedicated service will be a source of comfort and pride to you and, in later years, to your sons."

Keep Watch on Jonnie

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Doctors and nurses kept a close watch on Jonnie Gail Honeycutt, who received one of her father's healthy kidneys in place of her own diseased ones in a four-hour operation Thursday.

"The surgery went well and both patients are doing well," said a spokesman for the team of Tulane University surgeons who performed the delicate transplant.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Oppose Speculation For Novice Investor

Q) "I am a young man with a good job and like to speculate in the market. I own 200 Wichita River Oil; 50 Edo Corp.; 50 Papercraft; 25 American Safety Equipment and 25 Pacific Tin Consolidated. Should I retain these stocks or switch, and if so, will you recommend some alternatives?" R. D.

A) Please let me say, without giving offense, that I am very much opposed to speculation by the untrained investor. It very rarely pays off over a period of years and sometimes results in serious impairment of capital in a really bad market.

Your stocks are not wholly without attraction. Wichita River Oil, a rather deficit-ridden situation, seems to have little appeal, and Pacific Tin has been showing good earnings but operates in Malaya, which must be considered a risky area.

To replace these two, I suggest King's Department Stores, which is speculative only in the sense that it is a contender—and a strong one — in the relatively new discount merchandising field. And over a period of time, I would aim to upgrade my list by putting major emphasis on quality and growth, rather than on speculative attraction.

Q) "I would like to know if investing in debenture bonds is safe and wise. We have been approached by a representative of a real estate corporation, which is selling debentures to yield eight per cent." T. O.

A) A debenture represents wholly unsecured indebtedness and its safety depends on the credit of the issuing corporation. Debentures issued by American Telephone are stronger than the mortgage debt of many other companies. A debenture issued by a real estate corporation may be another kettle of fish altogether.

There is an element of risk in any such obligation; otherwise they would not offer an eight per cent yield, which is far above the going rate. I myself would be inclined to avoid this type of investment, which is not only difficult to appraise, but sometimes unmarketable as well.

Attendance at Schwenk Vetoes

15 years, said that he estimated that within 20-25 years, some 400,000 people will occupy the surrounding area and that Uptown pays more taxes than some wards downtown.

George Schneider, another Wall Street merchant, said that about 20 years ago "the only way you could get on Wall Street was to buy a building." Today, he said, there are four empty stores on Wall Street and "if Wall Street goes, taxes will be raised in other areas of the city."

Dr. Charles A. Galyon said he was in favor of the plan "with some exceptions." He said he thought the present uptown plan "looks like garbage by a second rate architect." He said that "Kingston was beautiful," and wanted some assurance "that this will go before some sober people" before it is approved.

Hemphill said that Raymond & May are "well qualified planners" and that the city's building plans "will be carefully reviewed by many departments."

Haltermann said that the uptown project should be postponed "until the inconsistencies are worked out."

Against Hardships

Herbert Reuner, operator of a monument business on Hurley Avenue, said that he believed there were many people in the area who do not understand or are familiar with the UR plan. While he was not totally opposed to UR "at large," he said, he felt that the council should reconsider the plan "so it will not work a hardship on certain area people."

Parish said that Middletown, N. Y. and Stamford, Conn., who reportedly rejected UR programs "both have projects in execution."

Harold Short, operator of a business on North Front Street, said that "In view of the differences, the uptown plan should be postponed until Broadway East is finished and a plan is worked out."

Another speaker said, "Either we move or we don't—I don't like the word 'postponed.'"

Cites Wall St. Sleep

Lester Clark of Clark Lumber Co. Inc., read a prepared statement protesting the uptown plan.

He said in part that, "I first thought there was little we could do to stop this takeover of property . . . It is too late to save Wall Street . . . Like Rip Van Winkle, it has slept too long."

Daniel Shuster also appeared at the hearing on behalf of Raymond & May Associates. Present besides Alderman-at-Large Carroll and Chairman Naccarato were Alderman Edward J. Schrowang (R-First Ward); Robert C. Schantz (R-Second Ward); Leonard Van Dyke (D-Sixth Ward); Edward Norton (D-Seventh Ward); Robert Gallo (D-Ninth Ward); James F. Howard (D-10th Ward), minority leader, and John Machione (R-12th Ward), majority leader.

Naccarato told The Freeman today that he hoped that his committee would report its findings at the July 13 meeting of the Common Council.

to indicate a 15 m.p.h. limit applying to the school area during school hours.

(2) Also, the New York State Traffic Control Manuel states "speed limits which terminate at an intersection should have the begin and end signs offset longitudinally so that these signs are located no more than 200 feet beyond the intersecting highway in the direction traffic is proceeding." In the present case the area sought to be limited is only 865 feet in length, and if the regulatory signs are placed 200 feet in from Andrew Street and West Chester Street the area would only be 465 feet. Therefore, for all practical purposes, you would be defeating the reason for this particular provision of this ordinance.

Makes Comparison

"(3) There are no more children on Mary's Avenue than there are on other streets in the City of Kingston that are main arteries of travel, for example Washington Avenue, Albany Avenue, Delaware Avenue, Andrew Street, Manor Avenue, and so on, and it is possible that if the speed limit on all the main arteries of traffic were lowered to 15 m. p. h. the State of New York and the courts would not permit it, to say nothing of the reaction of the residents of our city. There is also the problem of enforcing this section of the ordinance.

"(4) The posting of signs at the corner of Mary's Avenue and West Chester Street stating 'Slow—School Zone Ahead' could establish the same purpose as this section of the ordinance.

"Now to Section 7, subdivision '6' of the ordinance which would establish a 'Stop on Red' sign on Wall Street at a point 260 feet from the northerly curbline of Main Street.

Cites Traffic Survey

"I have discussed this section of the ordinance with the chief of police and his traffic survey officer, and both agree that it would not be practical to establish this 'Stop on Red' sign. The report of the traffic survey officer states that:

"(1) It would encourage midblock crossing. Such crossings could result in serious injury to the pedestrians of our city.

"(2) Traffic could be hindered at Wall and Main Streets during rush hours and particularly during Friday night shopping hours.

"(3) Also, there is an enforcement problem as said signs are not legal.

"Therefore, it is for these reasons that I have vetoed the Traffic Ordinance."

pital by Rondout Valley Rescue Squad.

According to Trooper Thomas Searles, the car was traveling south on Lucas Avenue Extension at an apparent high speed when the operator lost control on a curve to the right. The vehicle skidded 332 feet on the pavement, went off the left side of the highway, traveled 121 feet on the east side of the pavement, overturned several times and then went about 182 feet and veered off the road into a field where it came to rest on its roof.

Ellsworth, Miss Brown and the youngest Barringer girl were ejected from the car. Coroner Keyser said Ellsworth was thrown 62 feet from the car after it stopped.

Nancy Barringer, who reportedly was the only one wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident, was not thrown from the vehicle. Authorities credited the seat belt with saving her life.

Coroner Keyser said the car traveled a distance of 635 feet after it went out of control.

State Police BCI Investigator Michael Bonney of Ellenville substation investigated the preholiday tragedy.

AN EVENING WITH SEVERAL COUPLES

Q. When a group of five couples go out for an evening at a night club, must all wear the same type of clothes? In other words, must all wear evening clothes or all day clothes, or would it be proper for some of the women in the party to wear long evening dresses and others street length afternoon dresses? The men would be dressed accordingly.

A: It is not a must that they all wear evening or all day clothes but if they don't, those in day clothes will probably feel uncomfortable sitting at the same table with those in evening clothes.

* * *

Reusuming Social Activities

Q: Will you please tell me how long after the death of a member of one's family one may properly resume his or her social activties?

A: The return to social life after the death of a close relative is, nowadays, up to the individual. If he or she is not wearing mourning, he may start as soon as he feels up to it, to go to a friend's house, to a movie, play or sports event. He may wish to avoid large gatherings for a time, but little by little he increases the scope of his activities until his life has returned to normal.

A man or woman may start to have dates when he or she feels like it, but for a few months these dates should be restricted to evenings at the home of a friend, a movie, or some inconspicuous activity. Those who are wearing mourning do not go to dances or other especially formal parties, nor do they take a leading part in purely social functions. Anyone who is in public life or business or who has a professional career must, of course, continue to fulfill his duties.

Talking About Other Boys

Q: Is it not bad manners for a girl to talk about other boys she knows when she is out on a date?

A: It is not so much a question of bad manners as it is a very unwise thing for a girl to do. It will almost certainly result in the boy never asking her for another date.

New Commission on Job Discrimination Operating

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal commission with the aim of ending job discrimination on account of race, religion, sex or national origin is open for business today.

Its chairman, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., said Thursday the emphasis would be on persuasion and conciliation, rather than "persecution."

The commission's legal existence began at midnight Thursday night, and its task is conceded to be enormously complex.

In the course of a news conference Thursday, Roosevelt said he did not intend to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York City, saying he thought he could do more good as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Other members of the five-member commission are making field trips to explore the problems they will be expected to deal with — charges of discrimination in hiring, firing, promotion or other employment practices.

Welcome Suggestions

Roosevelt said the commission welcomes these complaints as well as suggestions on how it should operate.

While persuasion is the watchword, if an employer or labor union or employment agency persists in discrimination, it could find itself hauled before a federal court. Then if the court's orders were defied the offender could be jailed for contempt.

In the long, complicated Title VII there are many clauses and exemptions. For example, a newspaper cannot be punished for publishing a discriminatory ad but the person who offered the ad might be.

The title makes its bow under fire from several directions. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., described it Thursday as "a useless agency, unnecessary and uncalled for."

Criticism by Groups

Some civil rights organizations, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have criticized the time consuming processes specified in Title VII. For one thing an aggrieved person cannot get federal action until he has exhausted his remedies under state fair employment practices laws. Twenty-six states have such laws, some stronger than others.

Exempt from Title VII are federal and state governments, Indian tribes (which may discriminate in favor of Indians), bona fide private membership clubs, persons employed by an educational institution to perform educational work, persons employed by a religious educational institution, and persons who refuse to employ Communists.

Some Jobs Exempt

Also exempt are particular jobs with prime requisites that depend on religion, sex or nationality — a ladies' corset shop, for example, or perhaps a religious bookshop. But this exemption does not extend to race or color.

The word "sex" in the law, which was inserted in the House by a Southern foe of the legislation, may give the commission its biggest headache.

Suppose a male waiter thought he should be hired by ye olde teashop.

For that matter, a husky woman might apply for a cross-country truck driving job and claim she was discriminated against if she didn't get it.

These are questions which don't have answers yet.

Saugerties Chief Warns About Sale, Use of Fireworks

Police Chief Harold Mills of Saugerties, today issued a warning that anyone caught selling, possessing or discharging firecrackers or any other fireworks within the village limits will be arrested and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The pre-holiday warning was combined with an appeal by Chief Mills to parents and merchants to see that the fireworks law is not violated in order to avoid any mishaps or the necessity of arrests.

"Because of the recent accidents involving the dangerous Cracker Balls, one of which proved fatal in New York City, a warning to parents and children should not be necessary," Chief Mills said. Rather, an appeal should be sufficient to emphasize to all residents and merchants the dangers that are involved if the Cracker Balls should come into possession of children."

The chief concluded his appeal, "Let's all do everything possible to enjoy a sane and safe Fourth of July."

Officers Off Job After Slaying of Negro in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The fatal shooting of a Negro by an off-duty police officer resulted Thursday in charges against another officer and four Negroes and the suspension of both policemen.

Mayor J. D. Braman announced he would conduct an investigation to determine whether Seattle police are prejudiced against minorities. He promised steps to correct the situation if they are.

An all-white coroner's jury ruled Wednesday the shooting of Robert L. Reese, 41, by Patrolman Harold J. Larsen outside a Chinatown cafe June 20 was excusable homicide. The jury said Larsen, 34 and his companion, Franklin G. Junell, 28, had been drinking and used offensive language and that Reese and four other Negroes assaulted them.

Both officers are white.

Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll charged Junell with provoking an assault. The four surviving Negroes were charged with assault. Larsen was not charged.

Acting Police Chief C. A. Rouse called the two policemen "fine young officers" but said they were suspended for eight days and the suspension might be extended if investigation warrants.

Jack Tanner, northwest head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would file a civil suit seeking to make the city liable for actions of the off-duty policemen.

Tanner said he would also file a complaint with the U.S. attorney's office, alleging violation of Reese's civil rights, and a damage action under Washington's wrongful death law.

"It is not my concern whether these heighten civil rights tension in Seattle this summer," said Tanner. "After all, it was the act of a policeman killing a Negro which is the basis of it all."

Tanner, attending an NAACP convention in Denver, made his remarks in a telephone interview.

The Negroes charged are James A. Williams, 25; Le Roy Head, 24; Weldon Scipeo Boylan, 27, and Moore. They could be fined up to $1,000 and jailed for up to a year if convicted. Junell could be fined up to $250.

Announce Final Plans for July 5 At Marbletown

Final arrangements for the 10th annual Independence Day parade in Stone Ridge Monday at 2 p. m. were announced by Ken E. Osterhoudt, general chairman of the Marbletown Community Project, sponsors of the observance.

The lineup will be at Route 209 and Cottekill Road at 1:30 p. m. The parade will proceed to the town plaza and return to Cooper Street and disband at Marbletown School where ceremonies will be conducted.

Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of Ulster County Community College will be the guest speaker.

Osterhoudt also advised that it appears to be the largest parade in the 10 years the Project has sponsored the annual event. To date there are over 20 units and this includes three bands.

Contributions are still being received and Osterhoudt urges everyone to support this local project which tries to promote patriotism in the Town of Marbletown.

Everyone is urged to support the parade with their attendance and organizations from the community or neighboring communities are urged to participate in the parade.

Pound Gives Reading

SPOLETO, Italy (AP)—Poet Ezra Pound gave his first public reading in years Thursday night, speaking in a frail voice while seated in a theater box.

Pound was part of a poetry program at composer Gian Carlo Menotti's annual festival of two worlds. Bone-thin and gray, Pound shiffled into the theater using a cane.

Pound, 79, returned to Italy in 1958 after spending 12 years in a Washington, D.C., mental institution. He had been indicted in his native United States on treason charges for broadcasting in Fascist Italy during World War II. He insisted he committed no betrayal. He was to defend himself and was never termed mentally incompetent to defend himself and was never tried.

CORE Hears Farmer

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Political organization at the Ghetto level "is the vehicle to take us to the desired objective," director James Farmer told the Congress of Racial Equality Thursday.

Farmer, in his opening address to CORE's annual convention in Durham, called on the civil rights movement to begin using politics, sharpened by community organization, as the primary weapon in its fight for Negro rights.

Farmer called on the civil rights workers to put up candidates for nomination to public offices and back them "through political vehicles like the Freedom Democratic movement."

Early Trials Likely

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) —Early trials may be sought for three men indicted on murder charges in the 14-month-old slaying of three Gwinnett County policemen.

Solicitor General (prosecutor) Reid Merritt said Thursday he might request a special court session. The next regular session of Gwinnett Superior Court is in September.

"We are ready tomorrow if they are," said Maj. Barney G. Ragsdale, chief of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation.

Hold Middletown Man for Jury in Woodstock Fire

Accused of setting fire to a small storage shed on the property of his estranged wife on the Ohayo Mt. Road, Woodstock, early Thursday, Charles Arthur Wells, 39, of 302 East Main Street, Middletown, was arrested by State Police on a charge of third degree arson.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harry Scarpati, Town of Marbletown, Wells waived preliminary examination and the case was referred to the grand jury for investigation.

According to Kingston State Police, Wells reportedly went to the home of his estranged wife, Marge Wells where an argument took place involving marital troubles. Wells, according to Trooper Thomas Searles, allegedly poured kerosene on the storage shed at the rear of the Wells home, and set it afire.

Woodstock Fire Co. 1 in command of Chief George Haythorne was summoned and the blaze was extinguished. Troopers said that Wells telephoned authorities and said he had set fire to his house. The accused man, who reportedly has been staying with friends in Middletown, was arrested later in the day by BCI Investigators Joseph Franke and Fred Grunwald.

See Pope Visit in '66

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican informants say if Pope Paul VI does go to the U.N. General Assembly, it probably won't be before early next year.

They pointed out that the pontiff will be busy with the final session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council from Sept. 14 to about Dec. 8. The next General Assembly session opens Sept. 21 and is expected to run until the end of January with time out for Christmas.

Msgr. Alberto Giovannetti, the Vatican observer at the United Nations, said in New York Thursday that the Pope is considering the visit.

Church Is Locked

CAMDEN, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights workers have moved into what one of them called "emergency headquarters" at Camden Academy, a Negro school, following the locking of a Negro church which had served them as a headquarters for several months.

Wilcox County Sheriff P.C. Jenkins locked the doors to the Antioch Baptist Church Thursday, claiming that there had been "too much disturbance" there recently.

He also claimed that the deacons of the church, at a meeting in his office earlier in the week, had expressed a desire to have the workers evicted.

The observatory in Bochum, Germany, had reported picking up signals it said varied from the Cosmos series. The observatory had said it could not tell whether the satellite was manned or unmanned.

"The apparatus on board the sputnik is functioning normally," the agency added.

Fire Calls Total 97 for June

Ulster County Fire Control headquarters today reported only one fire call overnight, that was a brush fire at Centerville which took two hours to bring under control.

For June the Fire Control Center received a total of 1,125 calls of which 97 were fire calls. There were 15 Mutual Aid calls, 20 emergency calls and four false alarms. There were also two inter-county Mutual Aid calls, both fire calls to Plattekill for Orange County assistance.

For the first six months of 1964 there was a total of 4,126 calls. In 1965 for the first six months total calls numbered 5,903. In 1964 there were 582 calls during the first six months and in 1965 799 fire calls. Mutual Aid calls numbered 59 during the first six months of 1964 and 67 in 1965. Red Barges Delayed

BONN, Germany (AP)—Two Communist East German barges were held up today at Schnackenburg of the Elbe River because their captains refused to sign the usual permits for entering West German waters, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's spokesman reported.

Press chief Karl Guenther Von Hase told a news conference that the Communist government "is obviously making a test" of conditions under which barge traffic can move between the two Germanys.

Wagner Is Not Interested in Ambassador Role

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York said today he is "not interested in being an ambassador" after he completes his third term next January.

Wagner, who has announced he will not seek re-election in November, commented when asked about reports that he may become the American envoy to Rome or Tel Aviv.

"That's not all," the Democratic mayor said. "I keep reading that I'll be appointed sports czar. It's pure speculation, you know."

Wagner spoke to newsmen at Kastrup Airport after arriving from New York to speak at the annual American Fourth of July celebration in Denmark.

The mayor denied there was any conflict between himself and New York's Democratic Sen. Robert Kennedy.

"Bobby Kennedy and I have known each other over the years and our friendship has continued," Wagner said. "He is a good friend."

Saugerties Man Is Held on Complaint

We still let nature make the beer

Nature makes Utica Club Beer.

And it's time credit was given where credit's due. Oh sure, we supervise and sample, taste and test Utica Club. But nature's the real star.

Utica Club Beer is brewed from the harvest. Only nature's choice whole grains go into our beer... never syrups or extracts. Also, a little bit of rice is added to Utica Club. Rice gives it a unique lightness, without sacrificing a bit of its natural flavor.

And Utica Club is aged for months, not just weeks. This extra aging lets nature do two wonderful things to our beer. It makes its own carbonation this way—natural bubbles, like the ones you find in champagne. Secondly, aging gives the beer that extra time it needs to mellow itself and smooth out the rough spots.

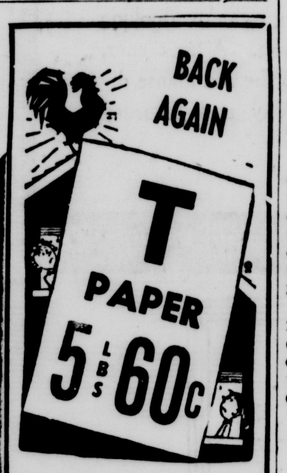

Letting nature make the beer takes more time, of course. But one mugful will tell you it's worth every minute of it.

We still let nature make the beer...because that's the way you like it.

This is the only way to top it

Caribbean Around the Calendar

BRIGHT SUN, blue water, restful green foilage and comfortable accommodations are what bring more and more North Americans to the Caribbean year round. The example shown here is Little Dix Bay, on Virgin Gorda in the British Virgin Islands.

By BILL McCORMICK
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Trade winds kick up all sorts of weather, Blowing from each side of the equator toward the earth's belt line, they trigger everything from Sahara sandstorms to Indian Ocean monsoons.

Some of the Trades' most benign breezes wash a crescent of islands stretching around the Caribbean from Florida to Venezuela. For many years the winds have blown a climate that has brought shivering tourists and prosperity to the islands in the winter (1964-65 topped them all).

Now, more and more people are finding refuge from summer heat in the area — and finding the islands great fun in the bargain.

"Many younger people can't afford the somewhat high prices that prevail in some parts of the islands in the winter," points out a travel agent, "but the summer rates are well within their reach.

"The result is that, generally speaking, there is a livelier crowd in the summer and I must say they seem to have a better time than the more sedate bunch in the winter."

Actual air temperatures show little variation the year around, usually averaging only about six degrees between winter and summer.

The Trade Winds, fresh off the ocean, cool the islands and the semi-arid nature of many keeps humidity low during the hottest months

At Dorado Beach in Puerto Rico the 10-year average is 78.8 degrees in July and 79.7 degrees in August as opposed to 74.5 degrees for February. In San Juan the mean maximum temperature in June, July and August has been 85 degrees over a period of 37 years.

On St. John, in the United States Virgin Islands, the air temperature in summer is reportedly the same as Bar Harbor, Me. and the water temperature is the eqivalent to that of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Rates at one big hotel in Dorado Beach begin as low as $15 a day per person, including breakfast and dinner, during the period from May to November. This 1,500-acre resort, just 20 miles from San Juan has a total of 272 rooms and a 27-hole seaside golf course.

St. John has been called "a beachcomber's bonanza" It is the site of the Virgin Islands National Park. Smallest of the three main U. S. Virgin Islands, St. John draws a surprising number of summer visitors, who can camp, rent a unique housekeeping shelter or take advantage of the bargain rates at the few little resorts and guest houses.

St. John's largest guest facility has been expanded through the years and renovated through gifts from Laurance Rockefeller. It offers first-rate accommodations for as little as $16 a day, per person, American plan.

A distinctive resort on historic St. Croix offers a choice of two sandy stretches of beach — one with its own beach club and cabanas as well as a new swimming pool and a dining terrace extending over the Caribbean like the deck of a ship at sea. Until November 1, this resort charges $15 or $18 per person, double, with breakfast and dinner.

"It is, of course, anyone's guess as to what will result in the summer of 1965," says Thaddeus Hyatt, president of Air and Marine Travel Service in New York, who has been called "The Man Who Invented the Caribbean."

"I believe that the enormous reduction in air fares effected in the summer of 1964 will bring a tremendous increase in tourists," Hyatt says.

New Biographies Now Available at Local Library

Biographies are of continual interest to many people, for they offer a detailed record of this civilization, and the individual's contribution toward its development. The Kingston Library has recently acquired a number of new biographies including the following.

Who Was Who in America, 1607-1950, is a four volume reference set containing short biographies of thousands of famous Americans. In addition to giving vital statistics, it gives records of education, experience, affiliations, achievements and family. This set was acquired through funds donated by the Women's Guild of the Old Dutch Church.

Forerunners of Christ; Studies of Old Testament Characters, by Joseph Fichtner, is an absorbing, information-filled account of 14 figures from the Old Testament, and one from the New, John the Baptist, who served as the link between the two testaments.

The General Next to God, by Richard Collier, is the story of William Booth and the Salvation Army. This is a centennial history which is written around the remarkable talents of this religious leader.

Taken Care Of, the Autobiography of Edith Sitwell, is about that lordly eccentric and regal poetess. Her life was every bit as interesting as her work, and a cavalcade of major personalities march through her narrative.

Dreiser, by W. A. Swanberg, is a biography of one of the major figures of American literature, Theodore Dreiser.

Force of Circumstance, by Simone de Beauvoir, explores the responsibilities and limitations of being a woman. In addition to being a biography, it is also a commentary on France, its policies, and some notes on persons she has known.

Other new books recently received include:

Hymn of the Universe, by Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, is an intimate commentary on one man's experience with God. The intensely mystical quality of this world famed scientist and priest is present in this moving collection of his meditations.

Reading Without Dick and Jane, by Arthur Trace, is a lucid study of the prevailing methods by which reading is taught to American youngsters. The ability to read is, indeed, the foundation for all subsequent education.

The New York Times Cook Book, edited by Craig Claiborne is a high quality cook book for daily use in the home kitchen. In addition to traditional American dishes, it also features recipes from 20 foreign countries.

These and many more new books are now avaailable at the Kingston Ctiy Library. The library is open 10:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p. m. Saturdays.

"Childe Harold" is the poem which caused Lord Byron to say "I awoke one morning and found myself famous."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business New Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Silver producers are betting that the price of the metal will have to rise. They contend that the cut in the amount used for coinage by the United States will only postpone the raise for a time.

Even some government officials admit that a rise from the present official $1.29 a fine troy ounce to somewhere around $2 an ounce is possible in coming years.

Usage Mounting

World usage of silver in industry and the arts is mounting fast and production is lagging far behind. Even if all coinage of the metal should stop there still would be a shortage.

Producers say the only way to increase the supply is to let the price rise so that prospecting will be attractive again and production from low-yield ores can be resumed.

Such prospecting already is being pushed in the north Idaho Coeur d'Alene mining district. Mining company officials say the search is based on the firm belief that sooner or later the price must rise. Nearly half of the present U.S. output comes from this region. Much silver also is a by-product of copper and other mining, and output rises and falls with the demand for these metals.

New coinage proposals call for elimination of silver from dimes and quarters, and cutting of silver content to 40 per cent in half-dollars. But the First National City Bank, New York, points out today that "how the new coinage would affect the supply, demand and price outlook for silver" is still far from a settled question.

New Uses Discovered

Zooming demand for silver in recent years is partly due to new uses for the metal in many fields of electronics and electrical equipment, including aerospace devices. Use in the photographic field has also grown rapidly.

The U.S. Treasury suspended sales of silver in November 1961 and has been retiring U.S. silver certificates at the statutory price of $1.2929 an ounce. The price on the London market Thursday was $1.297.

Treasury stocks now are estimated at a billion ounces, but present coinage use would cut this to about 445 million ounces by this time next year.

The price would have to rise beyond $1.3824 an ounce — the point at which the silver content of present dimes, quarter and halves would be equal to their face values — before hoarders would be tempted to melt them down for their metal.

But as world demand climbs, production must rise or even the U.S. Treasury will find it hard to maintain the present legal price and protect its coins. Silver producers seem sure that one way or another prospecting and mining will have to be encouraged.

Public Fishing Sites Now Open

Public fishing on more than 50 wilderness lakes between Inlet and Indian Lake in the central Adirondacks will become an "anglers dream come true" beginning today.

The State Conservation Department has announced that more than 30 miles of existing access roads in the Moose River Plains Recreation Area will be open to public use. Entrance to the lake-studded area will be from Route 28 near the Limekiln Lake public campsite. A caretaker will be on duty throughout the remainder of the trout season.

Special regulations affecting the area will be enforced to provide protection, especially for fire control purposes.

Tent camping will be permitted at designated areas for up to three days. Access to the 50,000 acre tract will be limited to passenger cars and trucks with a maximum capacity of ¾ ton. No trailers, camping or utility, will be allowed due to possible congestion on the roadways, the Department said.

"Car top" boats and canoes will be permitted but the area is closed to outboard motors. Forest rangers and conservation officers will patrol the area.

VFW, Hurley Win

Unbeaten Legion Tops Elks, 14-4, in BRL

When Julie Albertini selected players for his American Legion Post No. 150 Babe Ruth league team, his picks included Andy Murphy and the Gilligan boys—Ken and Bruce.

This trio of Irish stars (baseball players, not singers), has paced the Legion to 7-0 record to date. Victory number seven was scored last night, a 14-4 verdict at the expense of the Elks.

In other games last night, VFW beat Rotary Club 9-1, and Hurley toppled the Masons, 9-5.

Bruce Gilligan was stopped but his two partners did enough damage against the Elks, Ken hurled a seven-hitter, striking out 12 and walking only four. He also rapped a double and a single and scored three runs.

Greg Rios whiffed 15 batters in pitching the VFW to its win. He also went 3 for 4 on two singles and a double. Mike Collodi backed up Rios with a single, double and triple. Catcher Ray Wells tripled for Rotary.

Hurley scored six runs in the seventh inning on four singles and a double to come from behind and top the Masons.

Crash Show, Regular Races Hell Drivers Due at Onteora

Onteora Speedway has scheduled a double-barrelled holiday attraction for its patrons — a "crash show" Saturday night and the annual Oilzum Motor Oil Trophy Stock Race Sunday night.

The Oilzum Trophy race which will be contested over 50 laps has attracted a crack field headed by the Saugerties veteran, Stretch Van Steenberg; Ray Anderson of Newburgh, last week's main event winner; Harold Montanye, and Pete Keator in his new Mance Ford Special.

A record field is expected to vie for top honors and the silver tray awards symbolic of excellence in the stock car field.

Doug Tyler of Cottekill, who has been making a shambles of the Sedan class is out to repeat last week's double victory. But stiff competition is expected to come from such worthies as Don Hoose, Ron Santosky, Merle Elliott, Cliff Scism, Roger Delease, John George and about 20 others.

Rounding out the big holiday bill will be a spectacular display of fireworks. Gates open at 6:30 p. m., with the first event at 8 p. m.

First of Its Kind

For the first time in the history of outdoor shows a complete thrill show will occupy the same bill with a gigantic "destruction derby" Saturday at the Speedway.

The first half of the program will highlight the International Auto Daredevil championship stunt contest between the stars of the famous "Lucky" Hell Drivers and the Canadian Auto Daredevils.

The Hell Drivers will be captained by Hank Thompson, veteran thrill show driver from Sidney, N. Y. and will highlight the 20-event program of death defying automotive and motorcycle thrillers with the spectacular 65-foot "Dive Bomber" crash, the longest aerial car leap on record.

The demoltion derby in which up to 100 drivers will smash into each other until only one winner remains makes up the second half of Saturday's bill.

Onteora Speedway is located on Route 213 at Olive Bridge. The show starts at 8:15 p. m. with gates opening at 6:45 p. m. Rate date is same time Monday.

Set July 4-10 National Safe Boating Week

President Lyndon B. Johnson has proclaimed the week of July 4-10 as National Safe Boating Week.

Owners of pleasure boats throughout the nation are urged to cooperate with the committee during the week by checking their equipment to see they have the safety aids they need.

Some of these aids are required by federal or state laws and they are urged to make sure this equipment is in good condition. Know your boat, its potential and limitation, says the committee.

More than 14 national organizations are cooperating to make National Safe Boating Week effective. It is this "continuing cooperation," to use the words of the Presidential proclamation, that has been a major factor in making boats safe.

Among the cooperating groups are more than 750 Coast Guard Auxiliary flotillas throughout the nation, more than 350 U. S. Power Squadrons, 370 clubs affiliated with the Outboard Boating Club of America, the Red Cross, Marine dealers and other interested groups. Flotilla 10-12, U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary of Kingston is one of the participating units.

Palladino and His Mule Rated 2-1 Pick in the Big Classic

By Charles J. Tiano
(Freeman Sports Editor)

It figured that sooner or later the boys of the Hudson valley press and radio would wind up on their . . . . . asses.

It's going to happen Saturday at Monticello Raceway as one of the highlights of the first afternoon-evening doubleheader of the season.

It's called the Hee Haw Derby, a mule race which features members of the Monticello Chapter of the U. S. Harness Writers Association in the sulkies.

The race is restricted to sportswriters and broadcasters with lifetime earnings of less than 79 cents. A check with Dun and Bradstreet indicates that all the writers and sportscasters safely qualify under the 79 cent limit. We have accumulated somewhat less than 79 cents betting on Palladino's picks on a few safaris to the Big M.

Our Boy Is Picked

And right on top of the No. 1 mount, with the plausible name of Boots N Saddle, is our own Eddie Palladino, who drew the No. 2 post and was immediately tabbed the 2-1 morning line favorite in the non-betting race.

The Middletown Record entry of Ed Golemboski and John Szefc, draw posts No. 1 and No. No. 5, respectively, and are rated at 3-1. Dick Raskin of Station WGNY (Newburgh) will leave from the No. 3 hole aboard Babe Diaper, a 9-2 outsider in the race.

Beckwith Has Mount

Bob Beckwith of Station WBAZ (Kingston) drew the outside six slot with Kit Carson, descendant of one of the most famous mules in American history. The oddsmakers were not impressed by the pedigree and quickly stamped Beckwith's mount a 9-2 outsider.

Lee Richards of the Port Jervis Union-Gazette will handle Julie Rosebud from the No. 4 slot. Richards is burdened with a 100-1 entry which may decide at the last second it's too hot to run, anyway.

Last year's champion, Miss Eileen Liessner of the Raceway secretarial corps, deferred to Middletown's Szefc so that the Times Herald - Record could start as an entry to do battle with our veteran driver Palladino.

The stirring equine classic is scheduled to take place between the fourth and fifth races of the afternoon card.

One sports editor — Glenn Doty of the Record — will be conspicuous by his absence. Explaining his absence, Doty wryly commented:

"I just can't stand watching my colleagues making 'asses' of themselves.

Emerson, Stolle Meet for Title

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon Tennis Tournament had a slightly familiar look today. The all-night queues of fans on the sidewalks waited to see the Australian serve-and-volley specialists, Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle pound away at each other in the mens final.

That's exactly as it was last year. Emerson then won in four sets.

Saturday will offer a repeat performance from last year, too. Maria Bueno of Brazil and Margaret Smith of Australia are due to battle it out again for the women's crown.

One fact emerges — that Wimbledon's four finalists are way out on their own in the amateur game. All of them won their semifinals easily.

Whatever happens in the men's final, the title is going to Australia for the eighth time in 10 years.

It's the third straight final for Stolle, who lost to American Chuck McKinley in 1963.

Billie Jean Moffitt, the chirpy little American Wightman Cupper from Long Beach, Calif., made a brave effort Thursday to dethrone Miss Bueno. She fought back gamely to level at one set all, but faded and was defeated 4-6, 7-5, 3-6.

ITS VALUE IS UNQUESTIONABLE

The 'MGB' sets a new pace in sports car design. Its forerunner—the universally acclaimed 'MGA 1600'—created a record unique in sports car history, being the first to reach a production figure of over 100,000. The 'MGB' transcends its well-proven predecessor in every way. It is designed to do so. It has more power; more vivid acceleration; more brisk performance through the gears—all making for more safety. It also has more room, more comfort, a superior ride and greater refinements.

These pace-setting advances over the 'MGA' are an impressive indication of the unqualified value in the 'MGB'.

Ray Culp Hurls Phils to 2-1 Win

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When the Philadelphia Phillies blew the National League pennant last year by losing 10 games in a row with 12 games to play, everybody asked: Where is Ray Culp?

The 23-year-old right-hander pitched nothing but a few innings of relief the last two months of the season, didn't start a game after Aug. 1, and didn't pitch at all in those horrible late September games.

Manager Gene Mauch wouldn't say what was wrong. Culp wasn't talking. So there were rumors that Culp was in the manager's "doghouse." "He had a sore arm. "He refused to pitch etc.

Thursday night the 180-pound Texan hurled a three-hitter against the Milwaukee Braves, beat them 2-1 for his fifth win against four defeats. It was his second victory in the Phillies current five-game winning streak.

He was asked what was different about the Culp of 1965, from the idle Culp of 1964?

The 6-footer came right to the point.

"I don't know anything about that doghouse report," he said. "I had a sore arm, sore elbow to be exact. Every time I pitched it hurt. I decided I was too young to ruin myself and wouldnt pitch. The arm feels fine now, but if it hurts again I'll stop pitching again."

Culp said he never thought of quitting, that he never lost his confidence. He said if his elbow wasn't sore he would have been pitching and winning.

Dodgers Beaten By Chicago Cubs

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A funny thing happened to the high-riding Los Angeles Dodgers on their way to play the lowly Astros in Houston, beginning tonight. They lost two out of three games to the lowly Chicago Cubs.

Despite this shock. the Dodgers still had a two-game lead in the National League.

But it moved Manager Walt Alston to say:

"Anything can happen in this league. How it will all come out I don't know. You might as well ask a 6-year-old boy what he thinks instead of me.

"Nobody is going to run away with it, but come September the men will be separated from the boys. Five or six clubs could be in it all the way.

"It's an up-and-down season. Some clubs get hot then cool off, just like us. Some days the fans say the way we are playing we can't lose. Several days later they are yelling that we are lousy and will blow the whole thing big."

Alston has his two ace pitchers to oppose Houston the first two games — Don Drysdale, 11-7, tonight and Sandy Koufax, 13-3, Saturday night.

Pro's Son Leads State Qualifying

Youth showed the way in the Utica district and a basketball coach paced the Binghamton area in separate qualifying rounds for the New York State Men's Amateur Golf tournament.

Henry Furgol Jr., 18, Thursday led 15 Utica district qualifiers with an even-par 36-35—71 over the Valley View Municipal Golf Course. The youngster's father is the professional of the 6,436-yard course.

Jim Genza, 18, of Utica, was second in the field of 52 entries with a 35-37—72.

At Binghamton, Dick Baldwin, well-known coach of Broome County Tech, blazed over the par 71, 6,295-yard Binghamton Country Club course with a 39-35—74.

Six golfers qualified from the field of 18 starters. Three of the six were in a five-man playoff.

Nineteen-year-old Bob Cibulsky of Binghamton was second with a 42-33—75.

BATTING — Glenn Beckert, Cubs, drove in four runs with a pair of homers, only his second and third of the season, as Chicago defeated National League leading Los Angeles 6-3.

PITCHING — Ray Culp, Phillies, checked Milwaukee 2-1 on three hits as Philadelphia won its fifth straight game and moved into fourth place in the National League.

Jim Grelle Wins 1,500 Meter Run

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Jim Grelle from Oregon, has parlayed French dynamo Michael Jazy's absence and the form failure of Olympic champion Peter Snell into an American coup in the 1,500 meter run —highlight of the World Track and Field Games.

With Jazy, world record holder at the mile, two miles and 3,000 meters, on the sidelines and Snell unable to mount the pace that made him the world's premier middle distance runner a year ago, the methodical Grelle nipped former Oregon teammate Dyrol Burleson in Thursday's 1,500. Snell finished a distant fifth in the comparatively slow race.

Grelle, outsprinting Burleson after the pair caught pacesetter John Davies, Snell's New Zealand countryman with 200 meters to go, was clocked in 3:40.8. Burleson finished in 3:41.4.

The victory gave the American six firsts in the Games.

Bueno Defeats U.S. Billie Jean

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) —Maria Bueno of Brazil and Margaret Smith of Australia, last year's finalists, again reached the women's singles final of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Thursday.

Miss Bueno, the defending champion, defeated Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., the No. 5 women's seed, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3. Then Miss Smith trounced tall Christine Truman of Britain 6-4, 6-0.

It will be the fourth Wimbledon final for Miss Bueno and the third straight for Miss Smith.

Kathy Cornelius Paces Tourney

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Kathy Cornelius wants to win the big one again and then settle down to the life of a housewife and mother.

"I won't play more than 10 tournaments next year," said the 32-year-old touring veteran from Rancho Sante Fe, Calif., after taking a one-stroke lead in the first round of the Women's National Open Golf championship Thursday.

"I'm going to settle down with my husband and daughter," she said. "I'm going to be an assistant to the assistant pro at Rancho Sante Fe."

Her husband, Bill. is the head pro at the Rancho Sante Fe Club. Her daughter, Karen is 11.

Mrs. Cornelius, winner of the Open in 1956, shot a one-under par 71 for a one stroke lead over Marlene Bauer Hagge of Sarasota, Fla.

But the surprise in the field was amateur Anne Quast Welts of Mt. Vernon, Wash., whose 74 put her in third place. Mrs. Welts, three-time national women's amateur champ, hadn't played a tournament since last August and had a baby six months ago.

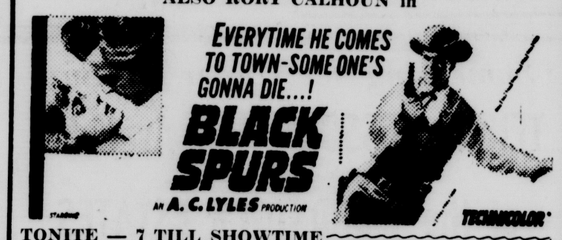

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., seeking her fifth women's open, shot a 75 and tied for fourth with last year's rookie of year, Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City, and Marilyn Smith of Jupiter, Fla.

Historic First Cavalry Flag Returning to U.S.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The colors of the historic 1st Cavalry Division have returned to the United States from the Far East after 22 years and two wars.

Those colors haven't been home since the vanguard of the division left the United States in May 1943 to fight the Japanese in the Pacific.

The 1st Cavalry's flag — decorated with streamers for distinguished service in World War II and Korea — will be handed to the Army's newest type "airmobile" division in a ceremony Saturday at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Thus, the Airmobile Division — designed to ride to battle aboard a fleet of more than 400 helicopters—will inherit a tradition dating back to the horse soldiers of Robert E. Lee and George Armstrong Custer.

At the same time, the colors of the 2nd Infantry Division will be transferred to Korea, to replace those of the 1st Cavalry. There will be no shift in manpower.

Although called cavalry, the 1st has been essentially an infantry division for nearly a quarter of a century.

More than 20,000 men who wore the yellow and black shoulder patch of the division became casualties — killed and wounded — in 10 campaigns of World War II and Korea.

Of course, the roster of the division has changed many times in the more than two decades of service in hot and cold war.

It first saw combat in the Admiralty Islands in early 1944, beating off a Banzai charge by Japanese imperial marines. Later, the 1st Cavalry was in the spearhead of the American return to the Philipines and led the way into Manila.

After the Japanese quit, the honor of entering Tokyo first fell to the men of the horseless cavalry.

Barely five years later, the division was rushed from Japan to Korea to bolster the thin American line in trying to hold off the onrushing North Korean invaders.

The division was taken out of action in late 1951 after battling the Chinese Communists.

For the past eight years the 1st Cavalry — along with the 7th Infantry Division — has manned the truce line in that divided country, on guard against any new Red thrusts.

MORALE BOOSTER — Comedienne Martha Raye, displaying the insignias of outfits she entertained in South Viet Nam, flashes a smile after arriving in Los Angeles. The comedy star indicated she enjoyed the morale-boosting trip.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Town Clerk's Office, Rosendale, Thursday, July 8, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

State Trooper, Gamble Benedict Marry Upstate

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Heiress Gamble Benedict and a husky state policeman are honeymooning today after a quiet wedding in this upstate college town.

The couple sped away by car to an undisclosed destination for an announced flight to Ireland following a simple double-ring ceremony Thursday.

Gamble, 24, and Thomas F. Gallagher Jr., 32, were wed in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. Only 15 close friends and family members attended.

Two trooper friends of Gallagher patrolled the street outside to keep away any intruders — especially Gamble's former husband, onetime chauffeur Andre Porumbeanu. Porumbeanu had been insisting he wanted to see his and Gamble's sons — Gheorghe, 4, and Grigori, 2 — who are in their mother's custody.

Porumbeanu currently is involved in a $6,000 alimony judgment brought against him by his first wife.

Gamble's highly publicized elopment with Porumbeanu in 1960 ended in annulment last October on grounds that his Mexican divorce from his first wife was illegal.

Gallagher, who stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 210 pounds, and his first wife, the former Doris Kelly of Syracuse, were divorced. They had a daughter, Christine Ann, now 13.

Gallagher is a Catholic, his bride a Protestant. The diocesan office in Syracuse said "all customary prerequisites for a mixed marriage in the Catholic Church were fulfilled."

Tornadoes and thunderstorms raked the northern Plains region Thursday night and early today.

A concentration of twister damage in southeastern Nebraska and injury of one woman at Nebraska City on the Iowa border occurred Thursday night. Highway 2, east of Lincoln and about 30 miles south of Omaha, was closed by runoff from a torrential rain in the Dunbar area.

High wind and heavy hail hit North Platte and Omaha.

Much of the nation had clear weather.

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Police Chief Harvey Teasley was fined $100 Thursday on a charge of careless and reckless driving.

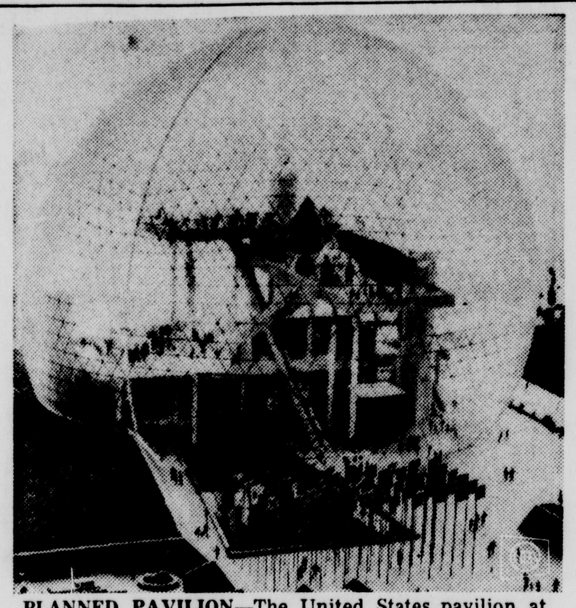

Teasley filed the charge against himself following an accident last month when he drove the wrong way on a one-way street and ran into a car. City Court Judge G. Randall Whitmeyer told the chief: "I've read the accident report and am familiar with the case. The fine is the same given any other citizen in a case similar to this one — $100."

No Cause Verdict In Case, Jurors Go

Following a no cause verdict in a negligence action brought by Keith Rogers against John McManus, jurors in attendance at the June term of Supreme court were excused Thursday afternoon.

The Rogers-McManus action arose out of an accident on Route 28 in the Mt. Tremper area. Rogers was represented by Francis J. Vogt and McManus by George Beck. A companion action brought by McManus against Rogers and another had been adjusted. The car accident happened on December 30, 1962.

County Judge Raymond J. Mino, who was assigned to the June term of Supreme Court, presided at Part I and conducted the trials by jury. Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick heard pre-trial matters at chambers.

A total of 115 cases were disposed of during the term, several by trial and the majority by pre-trial conferences.

Air Embassy Plot

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Communist party newspaper Akahata reported today that Trotskyist elements plan to bomb the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

Akahata said it obtained the information from "highly reliable" sources.

The Metropolitan police said they obtained such information about a month ago.

An embassy spokesman said, "We have been informed recently from the Tokyo Metropolitan Police" of the possibility of violence. He added the embassy has taken no extra precaution because the safety of the building "is with the Japanese police which is maintaining its usual vigilance."

Crash Kills Three

COMO, Miss. (AP) — A tractor-trailer truck loaded with gasoline turned into the path of an Illinois Central freight train and exploded in a ball of fire near here Thursday killing three men and critically burning three others.

The dead were identified as John J. Reyes, the truck driver, and train crewmen John J. Covington and W. F. Ferguson, all of Memphis, Tenn.

Three other Memphis men, all train crewmen, were in critical condition at a Memphis hospital with burns.

Orange Men Are Killed in Cycle, Truck Collision

Two Orange County men were killed at 5:35 p. m. Thursday, when the motorcycle on which they were riding went out of control and hit a panel truck on Route 208 about a half mile north of Indian Trail Road, Maybrook.

Middletown State Police listed the dead as:

William Mulqueen, 26, of 36 Valley Avenue, Walden, who died of a broken neck.

James Carroll Jr., 35, RD 2, Montgomery, who died of lacerations of the brain due to a fractured skull.

The deaths increased the Orange County highway death toll for 1965 to 34.

Trooper R. M. Peterson reported Mulqueen, with Carroll a passenger was traveling south on the highway when he failed to negotiate a right curve. The motorcycle veered from the southbound lane and collided with the right side of a 1961 panel truck operated by Donald Corwin, 50, Box 442, Newburgh.

Both riders of the motorcycle were thrown from the vehicle to the pavement.

Man, 68, Buys Car, Killed Hours Later

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Don Foster says no one around Eureka Springs had ever seen Delmer S. Tucker, 68, drive a car.

But Tucker bought a car at nearby Berryville, Ark., Thursday. Less than four hours later he was killed when he lost control of the vehicle on a curve.
